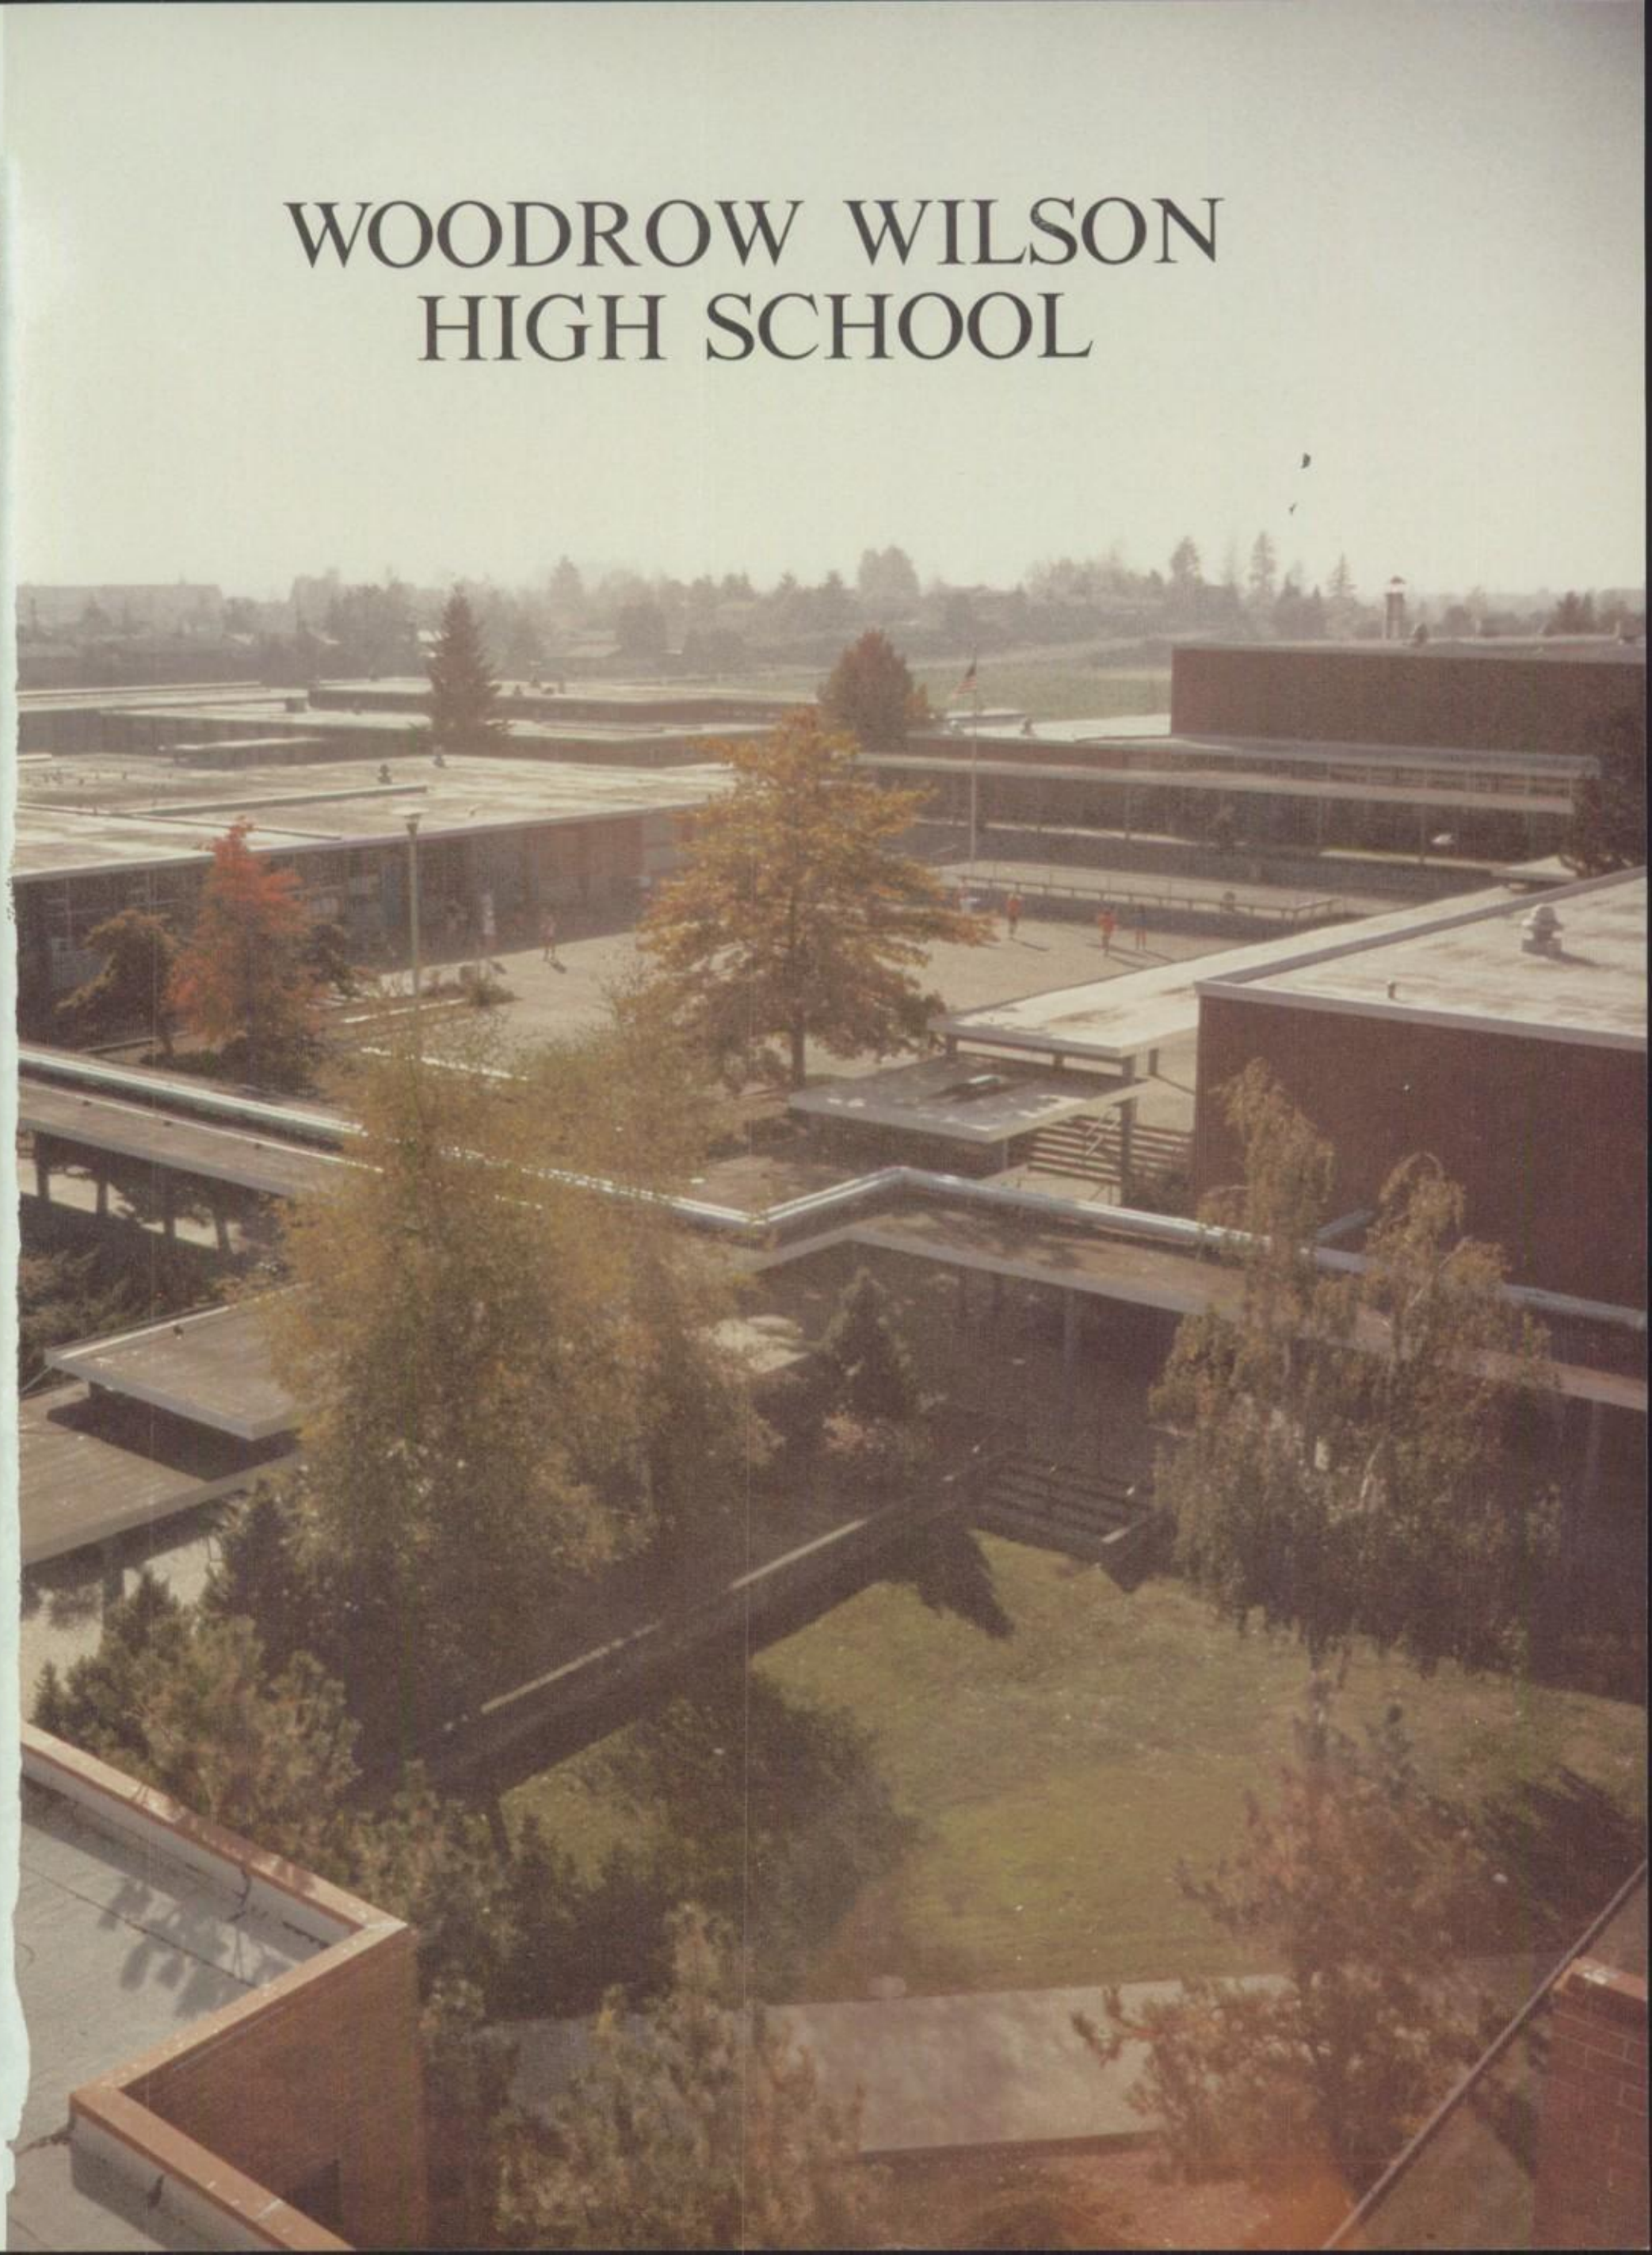
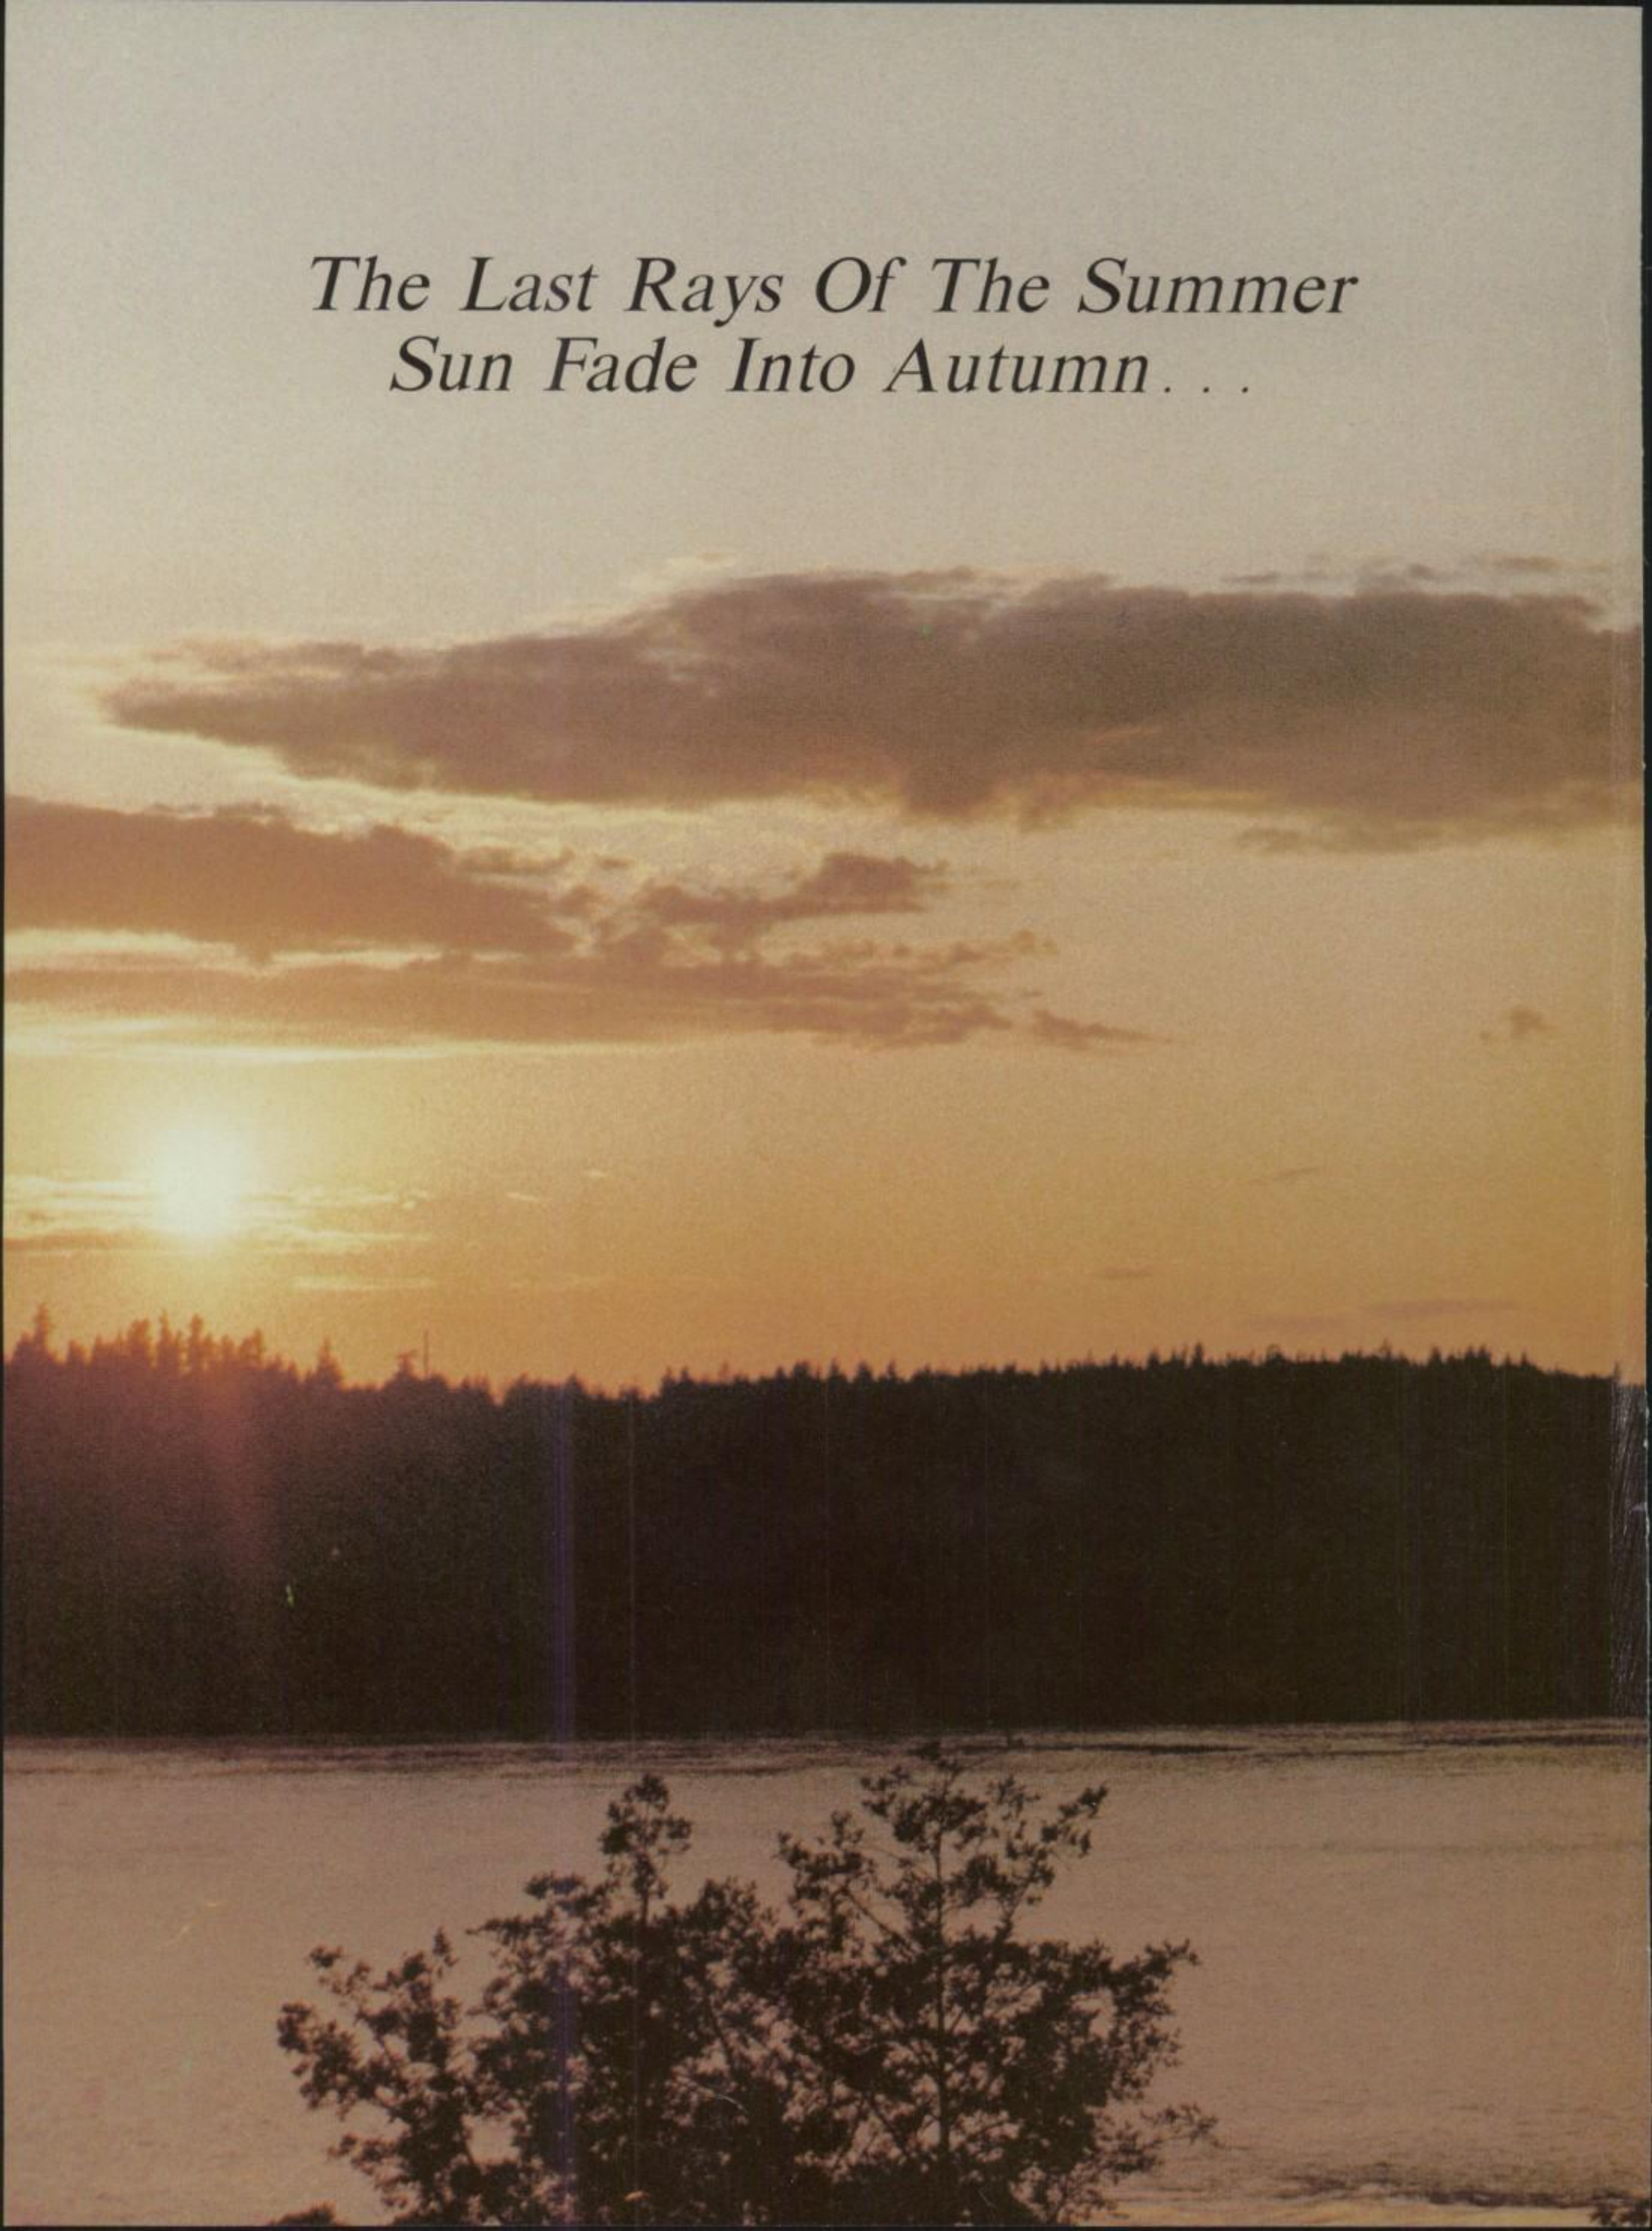
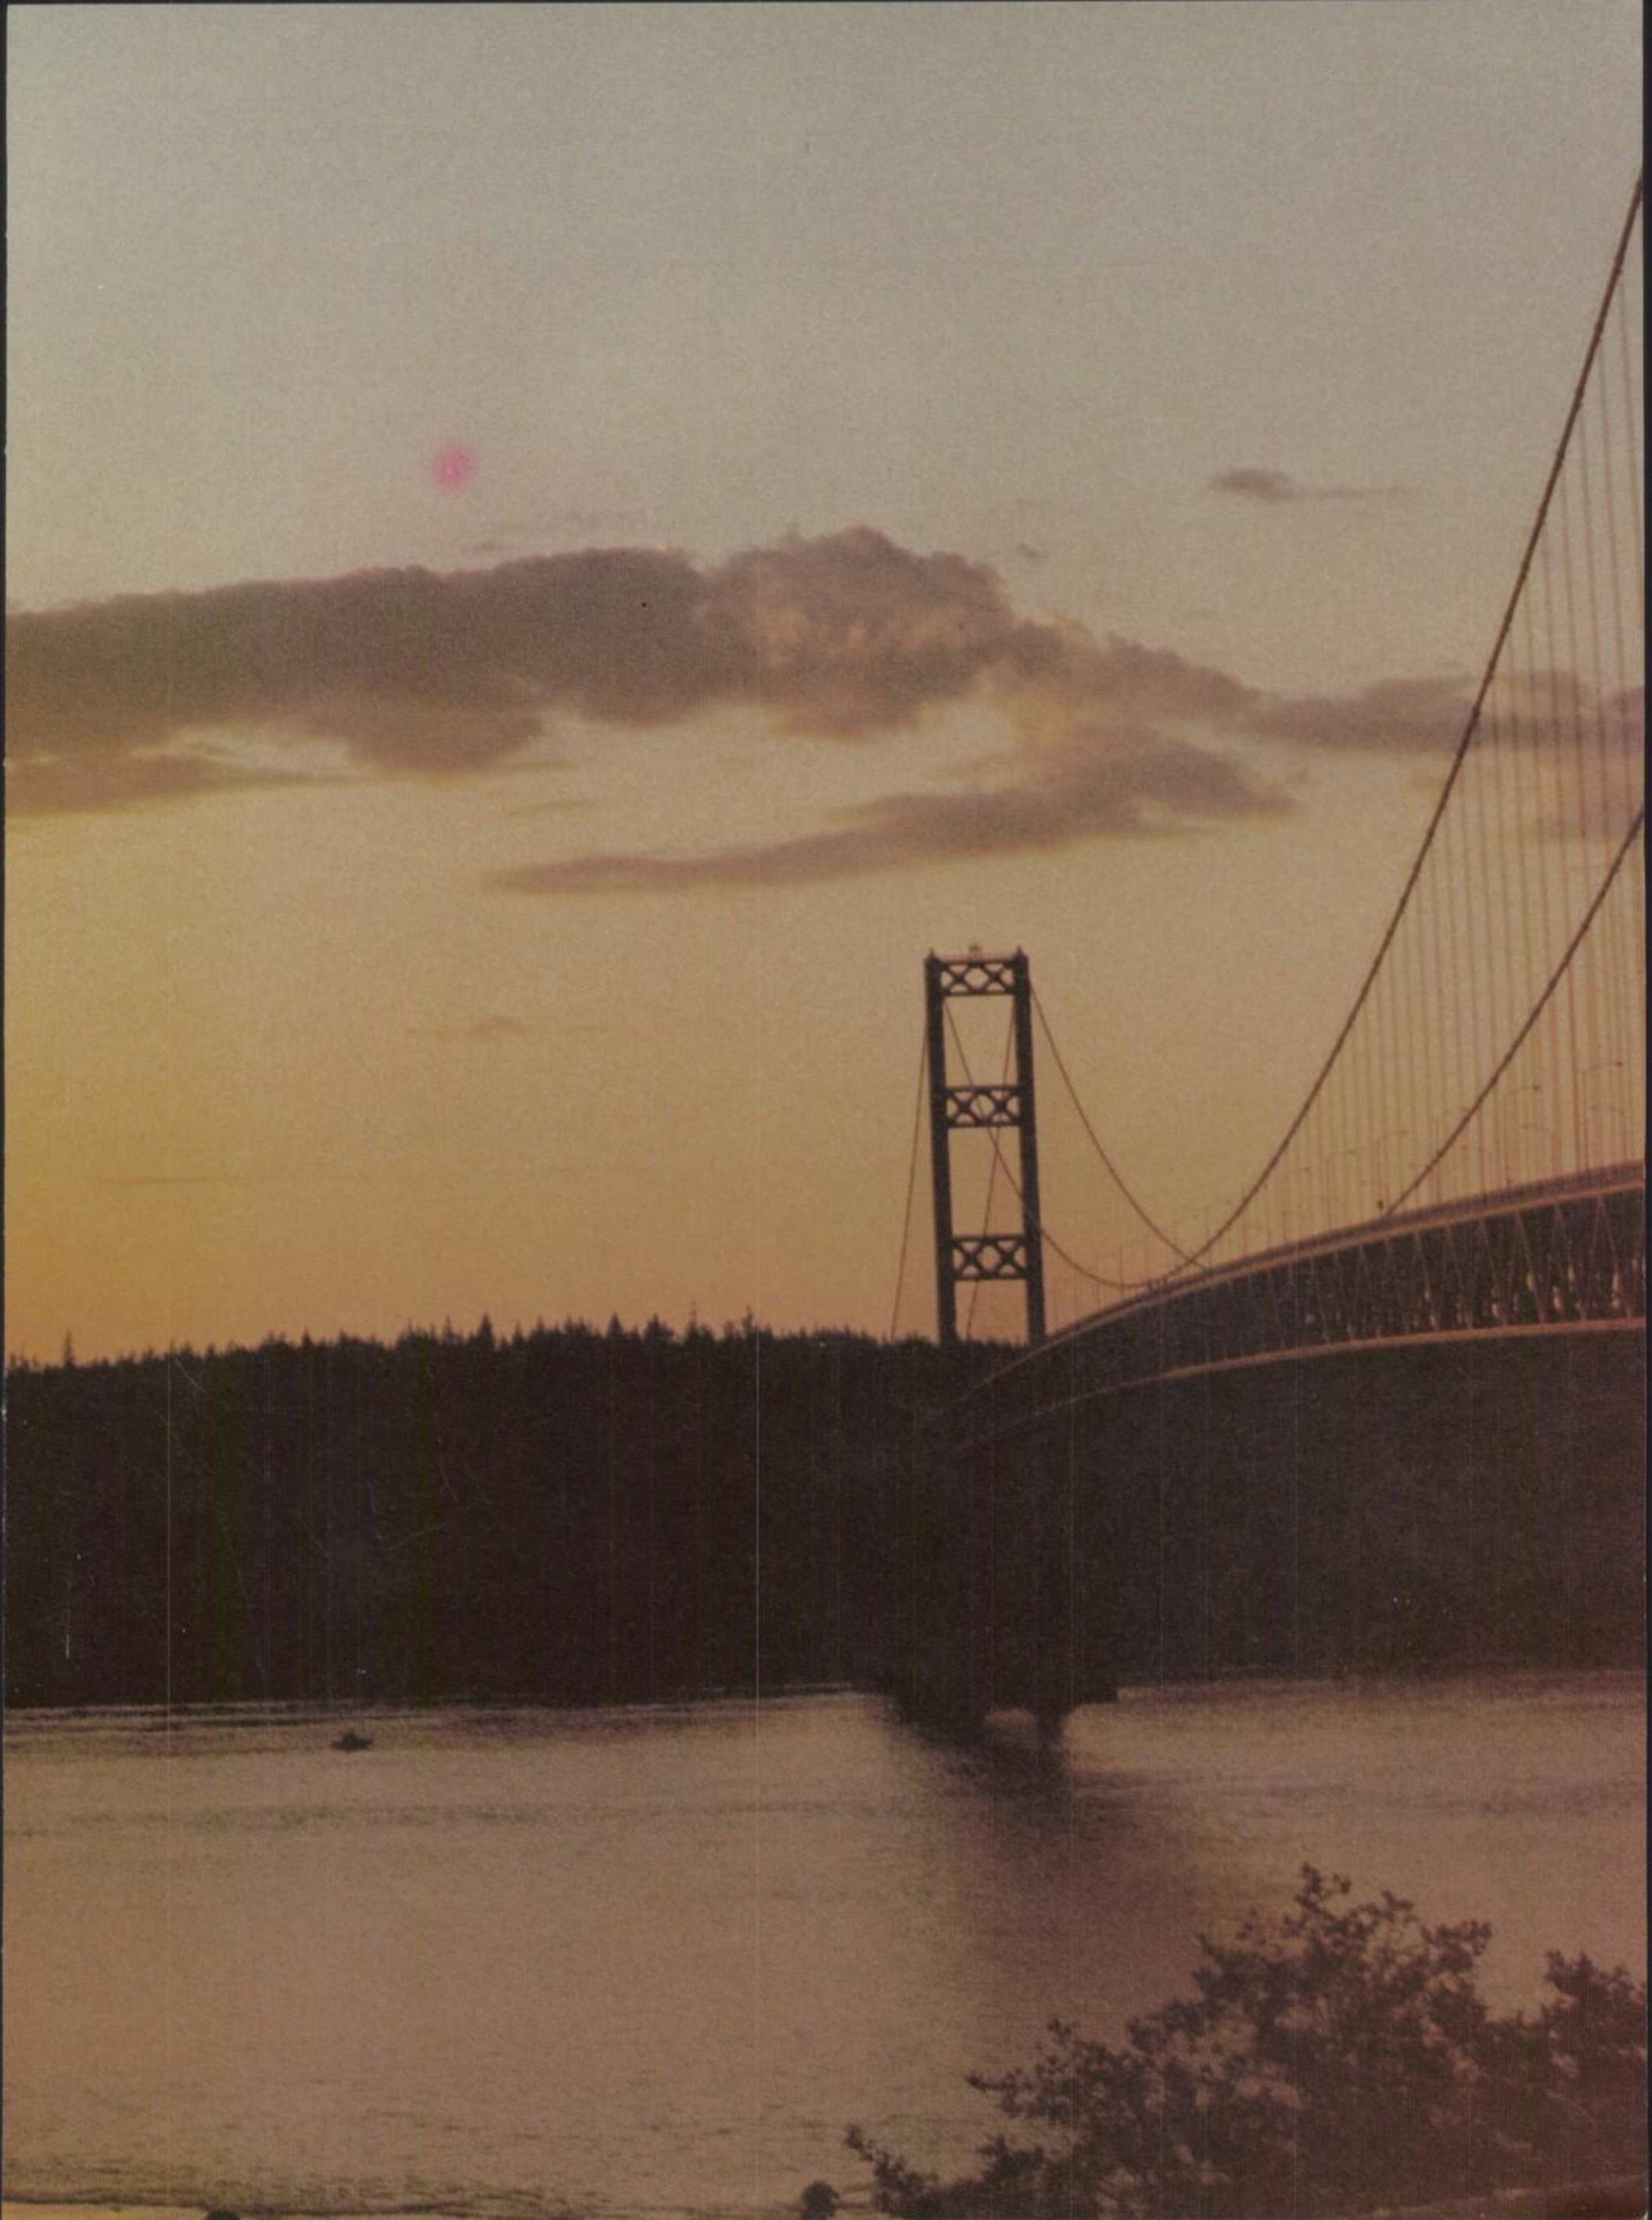
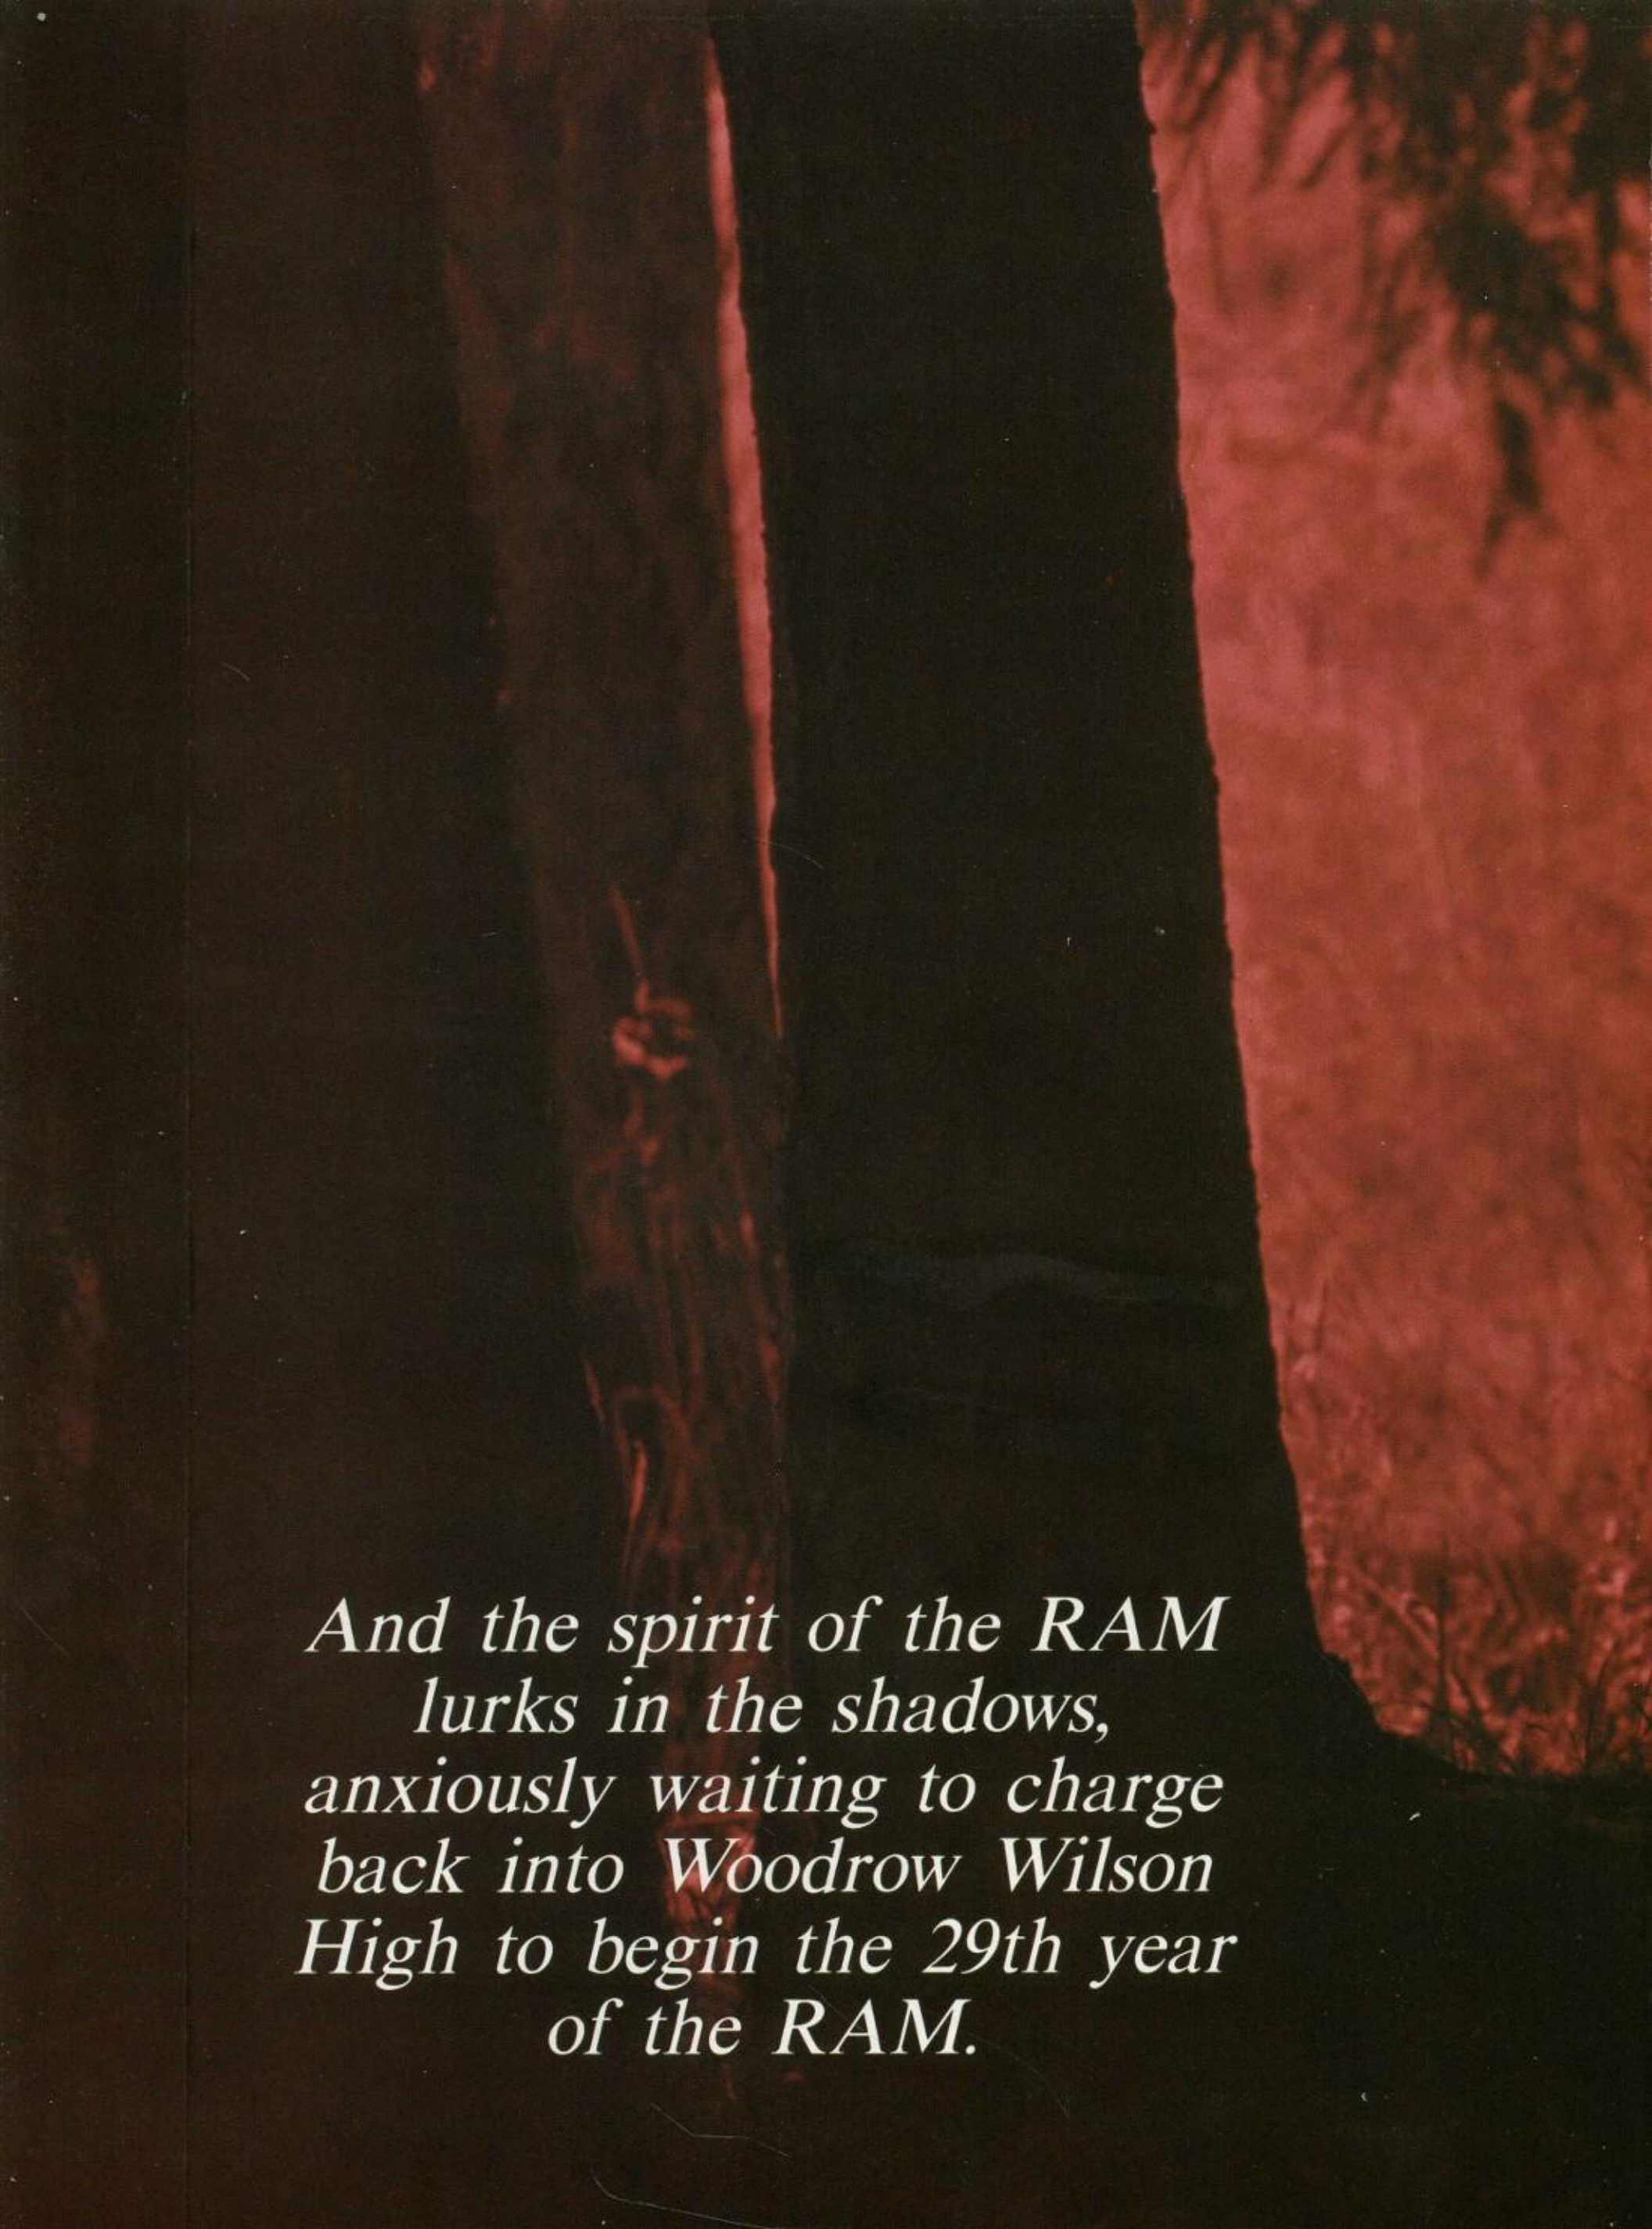
WOODROW WILSON HIGH SCHOOL



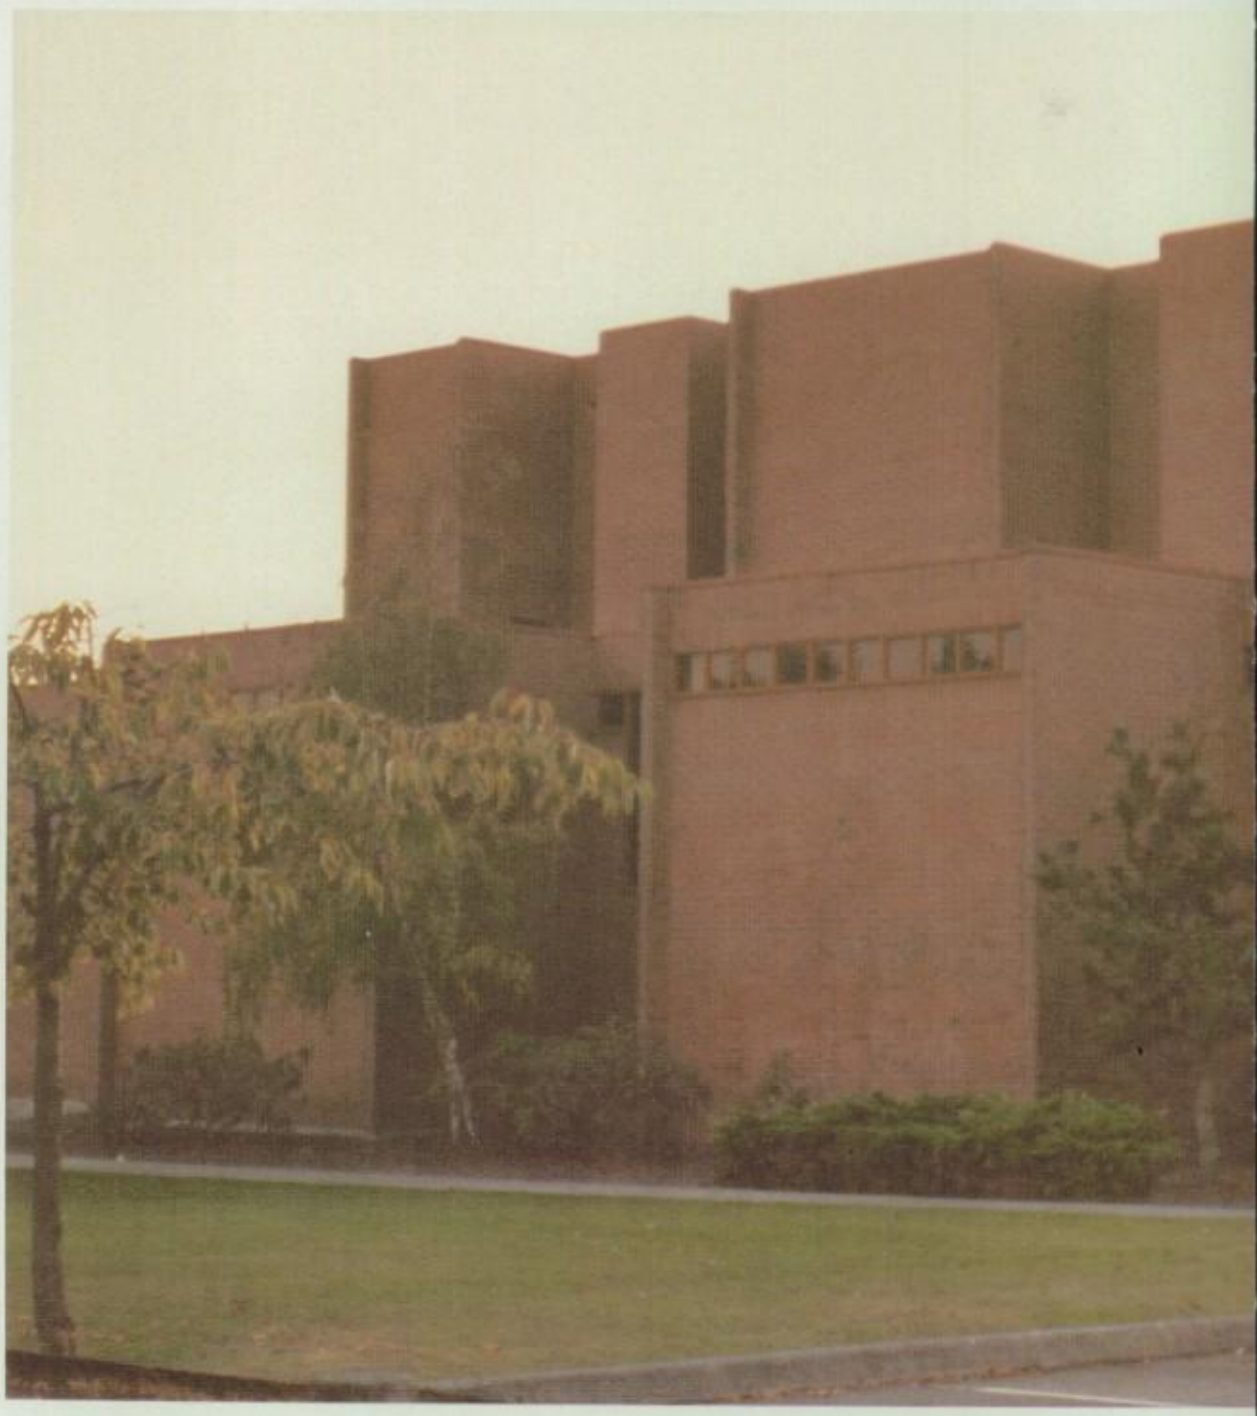
The Last Rays Of The Summer
Sun Fade Into Autumn . . .

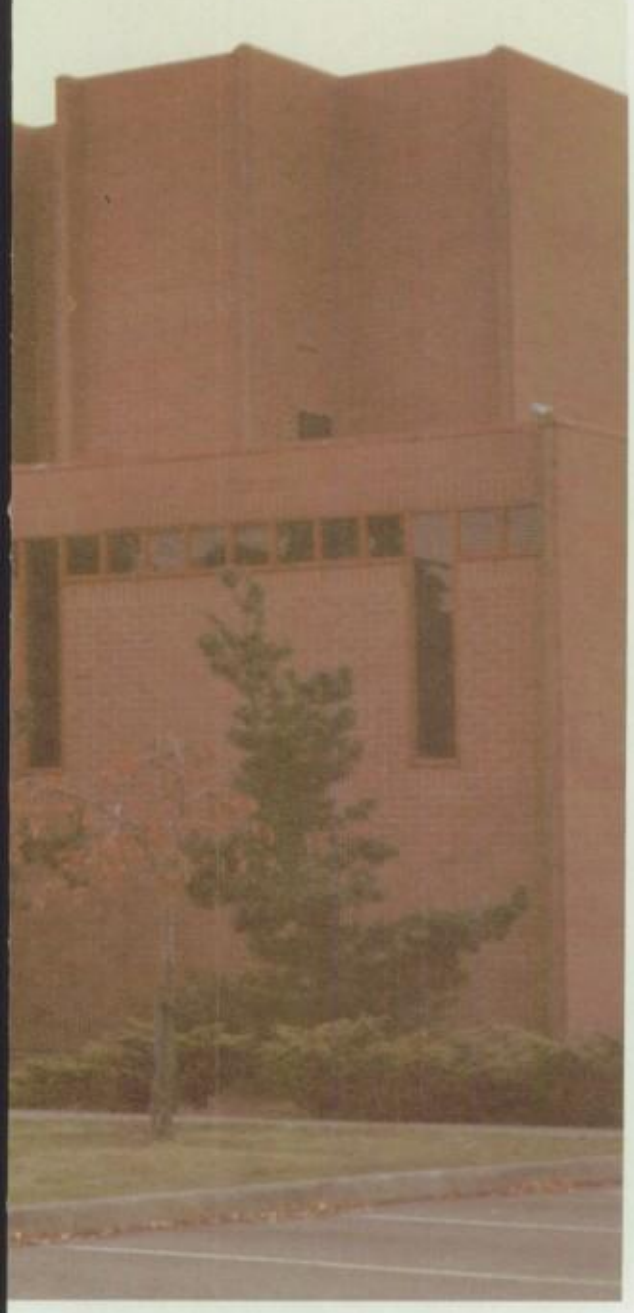






And the spirit of the RAM lurks in the shadows, anxiously waiting to charge back into Woodrow Wilson High to begin the 29th year of the RAM.





RAMBLING AROUND WILSON

Over fifteen hundred RAMbunctious students and faculty were waiting to go back to school. Wilson's empty halls were also waiting for school to begin again. The sophomores, however hopelessly lost they were, had never experienced RAM spirit and wondered what it was like in the real world of high school. Wilson's large campus seemed adequate at first to sophomores who had never tried to get from second to third period via the main hall. Juniors, happy to be above the bottom rung, hoped that the spirited RAM really would return. The seniors who had waited all their lives for this year, their big, last year at high school, for once were ready to return to school in September.

The first day of school. Time to write another essay on, "What I Did Over Summer Vacation." FUN, FUN, FUN!!! Seeing old friends, meeting that cutie pie in biology, or losing your locker combination before you even got the thing opened, were just a few of the fun-filled incidents. Running from the band room to the science hall and then out to the auditorium for study hall was a terrifying thought, but the real nightmare was finding that "none of my friends are in any of my classes." Once school began and teachers realized that the music crazed junkies in their classrooms were actually Wilson students, the spirit of the RAM concentrated on cRAMming for mid-term exams.

COULD IT BE SPIRIT? AT WILSON??

RAM spirit charged back into Wilson with an electrifying surge of energy. It began on September 3rd when Wilson Seniors got themselves out of their sleeping bags in the courtyard and stormed into the building to show the sophomores just what RAM spirit is about.

But the spirit didn't end there. On September 12th, in Wilson's Gym, the ultimate spirit starter took place. Yes, it was the Howdy Assembly. Wilson students have always enjoyed showing off their spirit at the assembly, and this year was no exception. Although the Juniors won the class contest with Angela Richardson's expert toilet paper wrapping ability, the Seniors definitely wouldn't let them get away with showing more spirit. Seniors clanked garbage can lids, clapped, whistled, and shouted until they overpowered the Junior and Sophomore classes.

RAM spirit carried on into the night at the all-city Grid-Go-Round where RAM fanatics cheered their team to third place.

The spirit of the RAM, in the shape of Wilson students, was also found at the Puyallup Fair. Not even the downpour of rain could stop this display of RAMpant energy. The ScRAMbler was, of course, one of Wilson student's favorite rides.

ADMINISTRATION

Woodrow Wilson's administration doesn't just lead a life of luxury talking on walkie-talkies all day long. They spend their time keeping students in class, doing paperwork, and attending after school funtions such as sporting events, plays, pageants, and meetings. Now, you may think that the administration has so much to do that they could not possibly have time to interact with the students, but Wilson's administrators always make time to stop and chat with students.

This year, to replace Mrs. Clark, Wilson has a new Vice Principal, Dr. Schmidt. (bottom right). After principal, Mr. Reher, (top) and vice principal, Mr. Sonntag (center), showed Dr. Schmidt how things operate at Wilson she has things under control.

SECRETARIES: THE FRAMEWORK OF WILSON

The secretaries of Wilson, like many secretaries, are often taken for granted. What would happen if they suddenly disappeared? The school would be a mess! Who would keep Mr. Kowalski alert by calling him on his walkie-talkie? Who would make sure Mr. Reher was kept undisturbed in his office? The telephones would be ringing off the hook! John Eberhardt (bottom left) would not be around to assist in record and attendance taking! What about those wonderful imaginative excuses you think of to explain your "absence" from class? Phyllis Wendt (left) would probably not miss that. The secretaries help the school run smoothly. In their quiet, efficient, modest way they are the essence of RAM spirit!

COUNSELORS:

ProgRAMing students for tomorrow, for next semester, and for life.

The Counselling staff at Wilson consists of six dedicated professional men and women. Between the Career Center and the regular counselling offices, each student had many resources to draw from. All Wilsonites are required to spend at least one week in the Career Center with Mr. O'Neil to learn life skills (a.k.a. resume writing, what to say at a job interview). While at the Career Center, students start to plan for the future. College, career, and voc-tech training are just some basic options each student has to choose from. On the other hand, when a schedule change is in order, the guidance office is the place to visit. Helping students decide which courses to take is just part of a Wilson counsellor's job. Listening to personal problems and offering advice when it is asked for are other important functions a counselor performs.

Have a nice day! MR. DAVIS (right) says with a smile.

"Literature Is the thought of thinking souls"-Carlyle

Here at Wilson, the English department teachers, headed by Ms. Lynne Pratt, spend their school days going over the basics of English grammar, such as the "who, what, where, and why" and the I before E except after C" concepts.

But our English department goes one step beyond . . . Starting out with Caesar's short reign and untimely death, followed by the trials of the tragedy of Macbeth, and, finally, Hamlet's death defying fight for justice and truth.

Without the basic knowledge of English and the understanding of it's history, students leaving high school would not be able to communicate well in today's fast paced society.

RUNNING, SPRINTING, JUMPING

Move over, Jane Fonda, Wilson's PE instructors are taking over. Wilson's PE classes include the famous aerobics workout, mile runs, and weight-lifting. All of these techniques are geared to turn scrawny sophomores into muscular juniors. But it doesn't stop there. Advanced PE is also offered to keep those juniors muscular throughout their years at Wilson.

Although PE is required of sophomores, juniors and seniors can also be found there. Senior Roseanne Proctor said that she was taking PE again so that she could stay in shape, but that is the least that Wilson's PE classes do.

Although it may sound as if the physical education classes at Wilson are all work, there are free days when the students can play pickle ball and basketball. Phys. Ed. provides a fun way to get in shape.

Wilson's health classes let the students know how their bodies are affected when they work out. These students learn all about the human body and the mind through the use of textbooks, films, and guest speakers.

"Seek and ye shall find."

This famous quotation by Mr. Birgenheier deals with the hunt and peck method of typing. According to Carl Birgenheier, all students should take at least one keyboarding class if they want to survive after graduation. Actually, any student who has to put up with "f, f, f, space" has to admit that keyboarding has been useful at least once. Besides keyboarding, the business department offers courses in accounting, shorthand, business math, and a variety of other business related courses.

DECA, or distributive education, is another business class. In this class, students produce and distribute Wilson's Livewire under the supervision of the advisor, Chris Rasmussen. They also learn to promote and sell many other products as experience for future careers.

Even without the "dark glasses" students thronged to the science hall for labs, lectures, and vector equations. Dead frogs, noxious fumes, and egg catapults may not sound pleasing to most people but science students are not average people. They are driven by a force within, to unlock the secrets of the universe, to venture forth where no man has gone before, to find the cure-all drug for acne, and to retire in Bellevue! Even Mr. Zittel, who is still searching for his own Bellevue, agrees that science at WILSON is "discovering."

MATH TRIVIA

One final math quiz before summer break. Yes, it's Stupid Math Trivia Question #1,038,527:

Who are Pythagoras, Archimedes, and Euclid?
a) Wilson foreign-exchange students
b) Wilson math teachers
c) Dead mathematicians of yesteryear.

If you chose "a" you haven't got a prayer of passing math.
If you chose "b" your bribe probably won't work.
If you chose "c" you get an "A" in strange geometry facts 101.

With the hope that most of you passed Strange Geometry Facts, we shall go on. (Yes, MR. MOORE, we were listening!) Besides listening to the history of math, which started before the beginning of time, WILSONITES Learned to add fractions, program computers, and prove theorems #1-1,000,000, and some especially fortunate students got to learn what derivatives are!

HISTORY IS OLD NEWS

The Social Studies Department offers many courses which are aimed at acquainting the students with the past, keeping them up to date with the present and helping them anticipate the future. Students in these classes learn anything from amending the Constitution in Civics to what the X-Y-Z affair was about in United States history. Students in social studies do more than read musty old texts. They get involved in such things as mock trials, city council meetings, class elections, guest speeches, and an array of other activities that keep the students involved.

THE JOYS OF COOKING

What is going to happen when you have your own apartment? Can you cook or sew? If the answer is "no," that can soon be rectified. Wilson has its own department which spent the year instructing students on the basics of sewing and cooking. The latest fashions were created for half the price you would find in the stores. Although some of the projects were not up to Vogue or Betty Crocker's standards, there were many successes. The most noticeable could be smelled as we dashed through the corridors on our way to class.

LEARNING CENTER

Wilson's Learning Center provides classes in math and reading and all other academic requirements. Generally the classes are small and students receive individual assistance. Students in the Learning Center often spend only an hour or two there and the remainder of their day in classes throughout the building. Often students are prepared for post high school placement through vocational training or on-the-job experience.

GUTEN TAG! SALUT! J6PUBLEM!! HOLA!

One of these greetings is used when a student enters a foreign language class. This year, the department was very active. There were exchange students from several countries while Wilsonites travelled to Germany, Mexico, and France.

To promote Foreign Language Week in March, the department dedicated each day to a language. In the lunchroom, music was played for the students' listening pleasure. The highlight of the week was the talent show in which students presented sketches, dances, and lip-syncs.

ESL

English is no easy task for Wilson's ESL students. ESL, English as a Second Language, is a class that enables foreign students to get acquainted with the English language without getting totally lost and confused in a regular English class. ESL is composed mainly of Asian students who have just come to the U.S., and those who have not grasped the language yet.

During Christmas, ESL students prepared a feast of Oriental delicacies to tantalize the taste buds of Wilson's staff members. Although, at the time, most staff members were too busy stuffing themselves, they certainly have agreed the food was great. ESL students were glad that they were able to give the faculty a taste of truly exotic food, and the ESL teachers were happy to be able to give their students an opportunity to meet and socialize with other members of the Wilson staff.

THE "OTHER" BUILDING

Have you ever wondered what goes on in the "other" building? The building that is being referred to is the 800 hall - the home of the Industrial Education Department. Many students know this part of Wilson as the "Driver's ed. wing," the "woodshop," or the "autoshop." Actually, it is all that, and much, much more. Here classes teach industrial skills, provide "hands on" experience with tools, and instill safety procedures. Students tinker around with their cars, design and make their own jewelry, and create blue prints for their dream homes. These classes provide experience, help students use tools correctly, and give them a background for possible future careers.

Art is RAMpant at Wilson

The students of the Art Department have been busy creating masterpieces this year. They have participated in art shows at the Puyallup Fair and at Central School. In the Summer of "87", students will compete in the Link's Art Show at the Tacoma Art Museum. There are also other shows at all of the school plays and at Back-to-School night.

The Art Department also teaches silk screen printing. Student artists produce tee shirts, ribbons, progRAMs, Santa-gRAMs, Val-O-gRAMs, among other things. The Wilson Art Department is alive, active and producing fine artists and fine art in drawing, painting, silkscreening, jewelry design and many other forms.

SPORTS & SPIRIT

RAMS SHOW SCHOOL SPIRIT

Wilson spectators do alot more than just watch. They are the loyal Wilsonites who faithfully attend games and root the RAMS on to victory whether it be the winning girls volleyball team or the hard hitting football team. The spectators are the heart and spirit of Wilson. Without them the fields and gymnasiums would be silent and the contests would lose their drama.

CROSS-COUNTRY

On a cold, October day with the wind and rain blowing, the words "Get ready . . . go!" could be heard at the beginning of the three mile course at Wilson. Suddenly, a group of Cross-Country athletes were running down the road.

Cross-Country is not as easy as it looks. It takes months (beginning in August) of running long five-six mile courses each day to prepare for the meets. RAM spirit sometimes wavered, though, when runners looked out the window and they realized that it was pouring down rain and freezing. However, the hard work paid off in the end, as both the girls and the boys teams were Narrows League champions. WILL WILLIAMS and HEATHER RIDOUT placed 11th at the state meet.

"We had an excellent season. They worked together very well as a team. Besides WILLIAMS and RIDOUT, KARL MELHAFF, DON HIGGINS and KIM BENNETT were our top runners," reported COACH MOORE.

GIRLS TENNIS

An international girls' tennis team at Wilson. Can this be true? This year two foreign exchange students, VALERIE VAN HOOREBEKE and BEATRICE RICHET participated on the team. Although they were ineligible to play in any matches, both were great additions to the team. BEATRICE said that she "loved the high spirit of the team! Everyone supported each other and we had a great, comprehensive teacher."

Although this was the first year the team was together, they still did very well. JULIE PATERSON even managed to qualify for districts.

SOCCER TEAM OR HIT SQUAD?

"Killing is our business, and business is good." Does it sound like a group of professional hitmen? Well, it's not. This was the slogan of the Girls Soccer Team. Of course, they did'nt become successful in their "business" without working at it. The team practiced after school everyday, drilling on corner-kicks, passing the ball, and running. — A lot of running! "Practices were tiring, but they really helped the team get together," stated Chris Gesch.

The team consisted of four returning seniors, three juniors, nine sophomores, and two freshmen. The returning seniors were, Shirley Cooke, Julie Koeb, Kathy Crosby, and Michele Holter. Although the team was basically new, they played a good season.

The seniors will be missed, but with the promise shown this year, the team should be pretty successful.

And after the games? Well you might find the girls at Skippers for All-You-Can-Eat Seafood Platter. After all, would'nt you be famished after such a grueling workout?

FOOTBALL

What do Wilson students think when they hear the words shoulder pads, helmets, and football jerseys? The Seattle Seahawks? Maybe a year ago, but now they think of their own Wilson Rams. The Rams had a 5-4 record which was the first winning season in over 10 years. This record assured the Rams to a first-ever playoff berth. "They played up to their potential," said Coach Hunt.

The Juniors and the Sophomores made valuable contributions to this year's team and showed a great amount of determination under the leadership of seniors Kerm Olson and Richard Feldman.

The team should be commended for their outstanding effort and achievement in the 86-87 season. They really earned it.

CODE NAME: RAM BALL

No, this isn't another sequel to Rambo. This is Wilson's Volleyball team, which placed first in the Narrows League for it's sixth consecutive year. The team consisted of two returning Varsity players: Lori Post and Brenda Johnson, and playing varsity this year senior Tina McKay.

Lori Post, an all around athlete, received a volleyball scholarship for abilities portrayed on the volleyball court. The team also had a large turnout of new talent which also contributed to the winning season.

GIRLS SWIMMING

Whoever said that swimming was easy must have seen Wilson's Girl's Swim Team. They managed to compete against some of the best swimmers in the league and made it look easy! With Senior Maggie Ringrose competing for our team, who could go wrong?

But even aqua babies like Maggie have to practice. And practice is exactly what they did-daily! Under the instruction of coaches Ehrenheim and Myhre, Maggie Ringrose and K.C. Cline qualified for State. Other State qualifiers include a relay team, Dina Martin, and Chris Penson.

This season proved to be one of the best ever for the RAMS and I'm sure Coach Myhre would agree that they worked hard to get there. With such talent, they are sure to do great next year.

'87 CHEERLEADERS

The 1986/87 Wilson High School Cheerleaders took first place at camp this year and have kept the spirit alive since their return home in July. The girls have gone through a vigorous and hectic schedule this year, cheering for all volleyball, football, and both girls and boys basketball games.

This year's members on an all senior squad are: Lisa Hines, Mona Lofing, Cindy Freer, Bitsy Nordi, Karen Peterson, Diane Ungurs, Carla Larson, Tina Schellberg. When asked what they enjoyed most about the year, their answer was, "Performing with the Beach Boys." The girls say this year was full of memorable moments and funfilled events.

Mrs. Sharon Calloway and Mrs. Marge Beardemphl are the advisors of the cheer staff.

We thank you ladies for many hours of hard work and spirit.

WRESTLING CHEERLEADERS

No, these are not cheerleaders who get out on the mat and wrestle. These are the girls who were seen at every meet to cheer on the wrestling team. To let their spirit be known, the girls diligently created exciting cheers to support the Rams. The spirit never stopped until the last wrestler was gone from the mat. Their endless energy helped Wilson to a very successful wrestling season.

Debbie Adams, Erica Harrison, Stacey McGrath, Chris Streepy, and Linda SanSoucie gave it their all to make the '87 squad the best ever!

WRESTLING

No, not WWF wrestling, not Hulk Hogan and Andre the Giant- something better, the real thing. Wilson Wrestlers. RAMs in their unis, sprawled on large grey mats trying to pin their opponents. Mr. Hunt once again brought forth a fine group of RAM Wrestlers, prepared to "Take Down and Pin". And pin they did. In fact some Wilson wrestlers even made it to regionals and state competition.

J.V. WRESTLING

Wrestling at Wilson comes in two dimensions: Varsity and Junior Varsity. J.V. consists of Wilson's future great wrestlers, learning the ropes. Although J.V. Wrestlers do not compete in regional or state tournaments, they do practice every day and compete locally.

J.V. PREPARES FOR V.

The girls on this team might not get the glory of the Varsity team, but they make up next year's Varsity team. J.V. members practice daily along with the Varsity members and, at times they even get to perform with the Varsity team, but these girls only hope for next year and enjoy the glory of playing a few minutes during a Varsity game.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The 86-87 Girls Basketball had a wonderful season, led by Coach Meacham. The team fought hard and won the respect of all the fans and teams in the league. Winning third in the city, they went on to be defeated at regionals, although they showed true RAM spirit throughout. Team member Deanna Thronson made it to first string on the All-City Team.

BASKETBALL

Wilson's '86-87 Boys Basketball team under Coach Tommervick had a great season despite the loss of many lettermen. The team fought hard all season and proved to be true competitors. The RAMs even managed to make it to the play offs in Auburn. Lots of encouragement and support from their devoted fans in the bleachers contributed to much of the team's success.

BASKETBALL

Next year's young hopefuls. Future RAM basketball stars. Yes, this is Junior Varsity Boys' Basketball. Putting in long hours of tiresome practice may not interest all Wilsonites, but these RAMS truly live on RAM spirit. Hopefully, all their sweat will pay off next year when these players become Wilson's Varsity team.

BOYS SWIMMING

This group of wrinkled prunes, I mean guys, did their best to send their team to state competition. After endless hours of grueling workouts every day and many league meets, the team managed to take second in districts qualifying ten members for state. Those members qualifying for state were: Dennis Higgins, Adam Moorehouse, Mike Rossi, Roger Duncan, Pat Butler, and Sean O'Brien. The team ended their season with a fourth place victory at the state meet.

THE BIG SPLASH=WATER POLO

"What are those guys doing?" asks Ima Loser. "Splashing around in the pool, treading water and hitting a little ball, what is this?" "It's called Water Polo, and those guys are our own Wilson RAMs, silly," responded Knowit All.

Yes, RAM spirit even showed itself in a swimming pool equipped with soccer-type nets. Not only must the players score goals they must keep themselves above water all the time unless the player happens to be 9.5 ft. tall. This twist makes Water Polo all that much more strenuous and exciting. Our RAMS proved that they could hold their own against opposing teams this year and hope to be even stronger next year with the return of sophomores and juniors and the new freshmen.

BOYS & GIRLS TRACK

Running. Jumping. Running. Hurdling. Running. Shot Putting. And more running. (and side aches and muscle cramps and charlie horses.) That's what usually comes to mind when someone mentions Track. However, many RAMs seemingly enjoy this type of physical punishment. Both boys and girls track teams had strong turn outs and are looking forward to a super season. Many returning lettermen should add to both team's strength. Both teams are looking forward to league, state and maybe even National Championships once again. Wilsons Track Teams have a reputation for tough competition, and this year's team looks like they will carry on the tradition.

SERVING UP A STORM

Wilson's '86-87 Boys Tennis team, under Coach Neese, had a great season despite the loss of many starters from last year. Both singles and doubles teams fought hard all season and proved to be true competitors. The dedication it takes to build a tennis team was truly shown this season.

BASEBALL

Springtime at Wilson. What does this mean? No, besides more seagulls. Springtime means baseball. RAM baseball, brought to you by Mr. Lightfoot. Once again the RAMs look to win this season. They practice daily and with their win against Mt. Tahoma, one of their biggest rivals, the season began great.

GOLF

Wilson's Golf team did well this year, holding practices daily and competing at local golf courses. Although this team does not have a big audience constantly cheering for them like many other sports, they give each other the confidence and support to finish victorious.

SOCCER

Wilson's '87 Soccermen proved that they too could show RAM spirit. The RAMs finished with a winning season. The positive attitude and sportsmanship displayed by the team led to their great season. Wilson's past soccer teams have held their own against competitors and, thanks to Mr. Thorpe's great coaching, this year Wilson's team continued the tradition.

SOFTBALL

Girl's Softball, coached by Ms. Bickenbach, shows real promise this year. The team lost many of last year's varsity seniors, but seems to still be strong all around. Many players, however, did play either j.v. or varsity last year and are looking forward to league championships, hoping to take first. To get there takes work, as these girls know, or are soon to find out, during practice in the not always glamorous weather.

RAM COACHES

You may be looking at this page and wondering what these faculty have in common. No, they are not all physical ed. teachers. Yep, you guessed it. They coach RAM sports teams. These teachers are true RAMs. Coaching is not an easy job. First there are try outs. Maybe 3 or 4 days of practice to pick future RAM stars. Then many hours of practice, practice, practice and wondering if the team will really be ready for — the first game. Most importantly, Wilson coaches are also friends. Not only do they teach fundamentals, they try to instill sportsmanship and fair play into their players. Judging from RAM accomplishments on the playing field, these professionals are true pros at coaching.

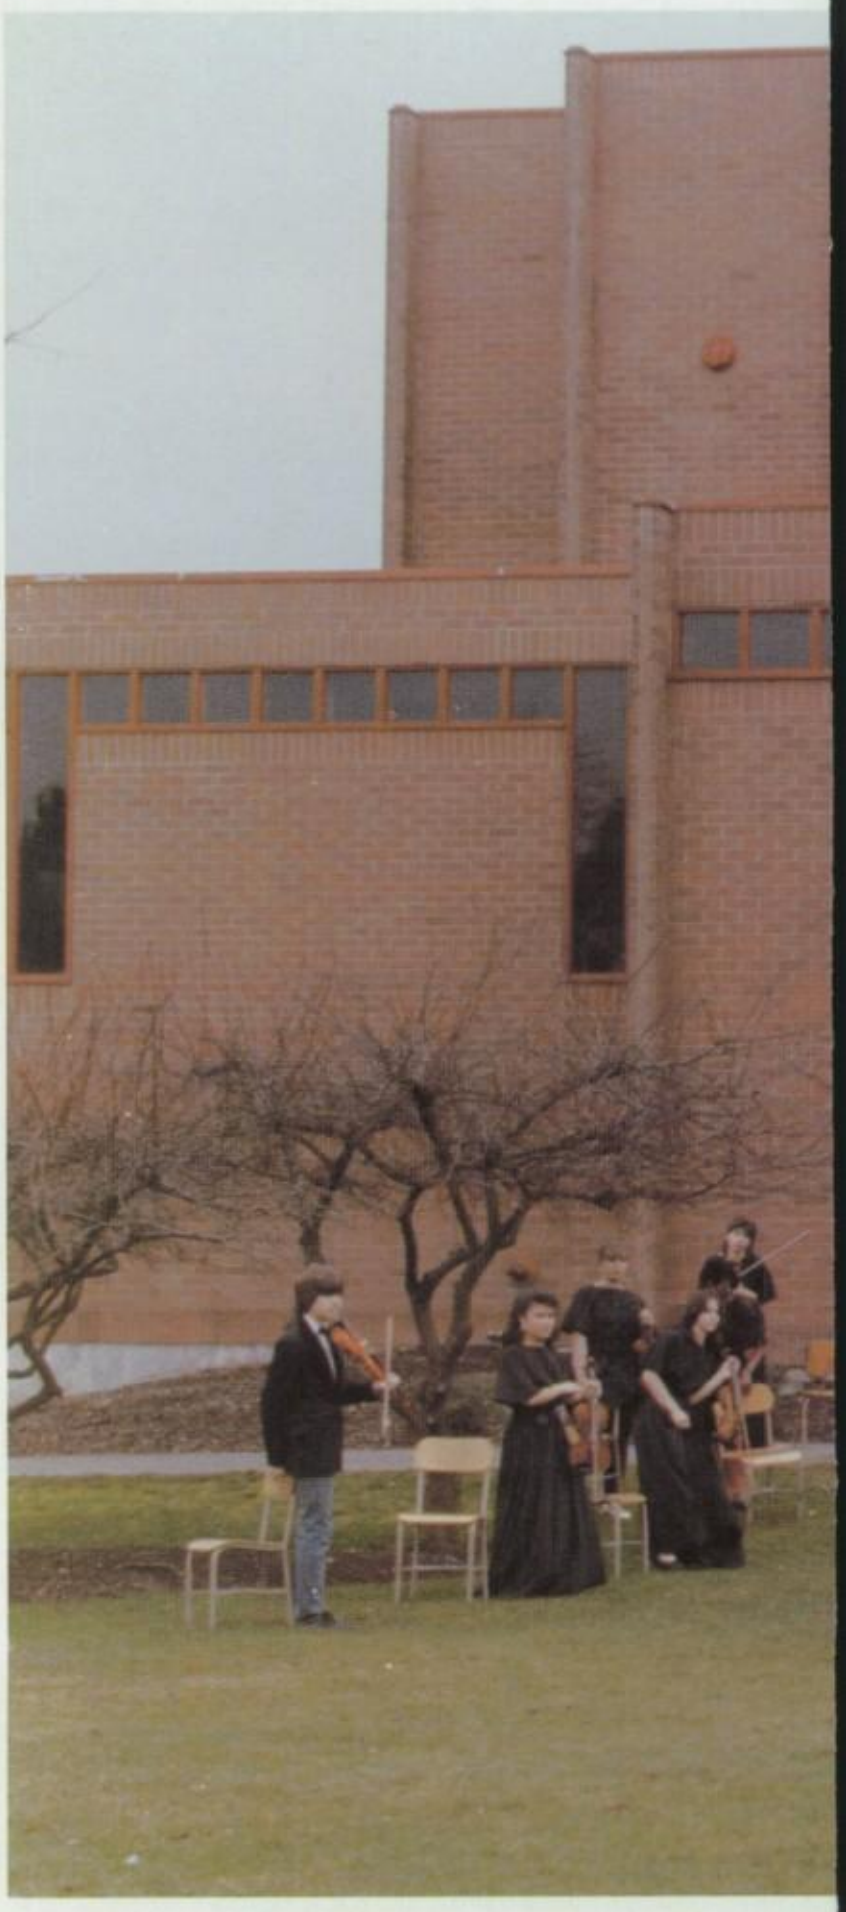
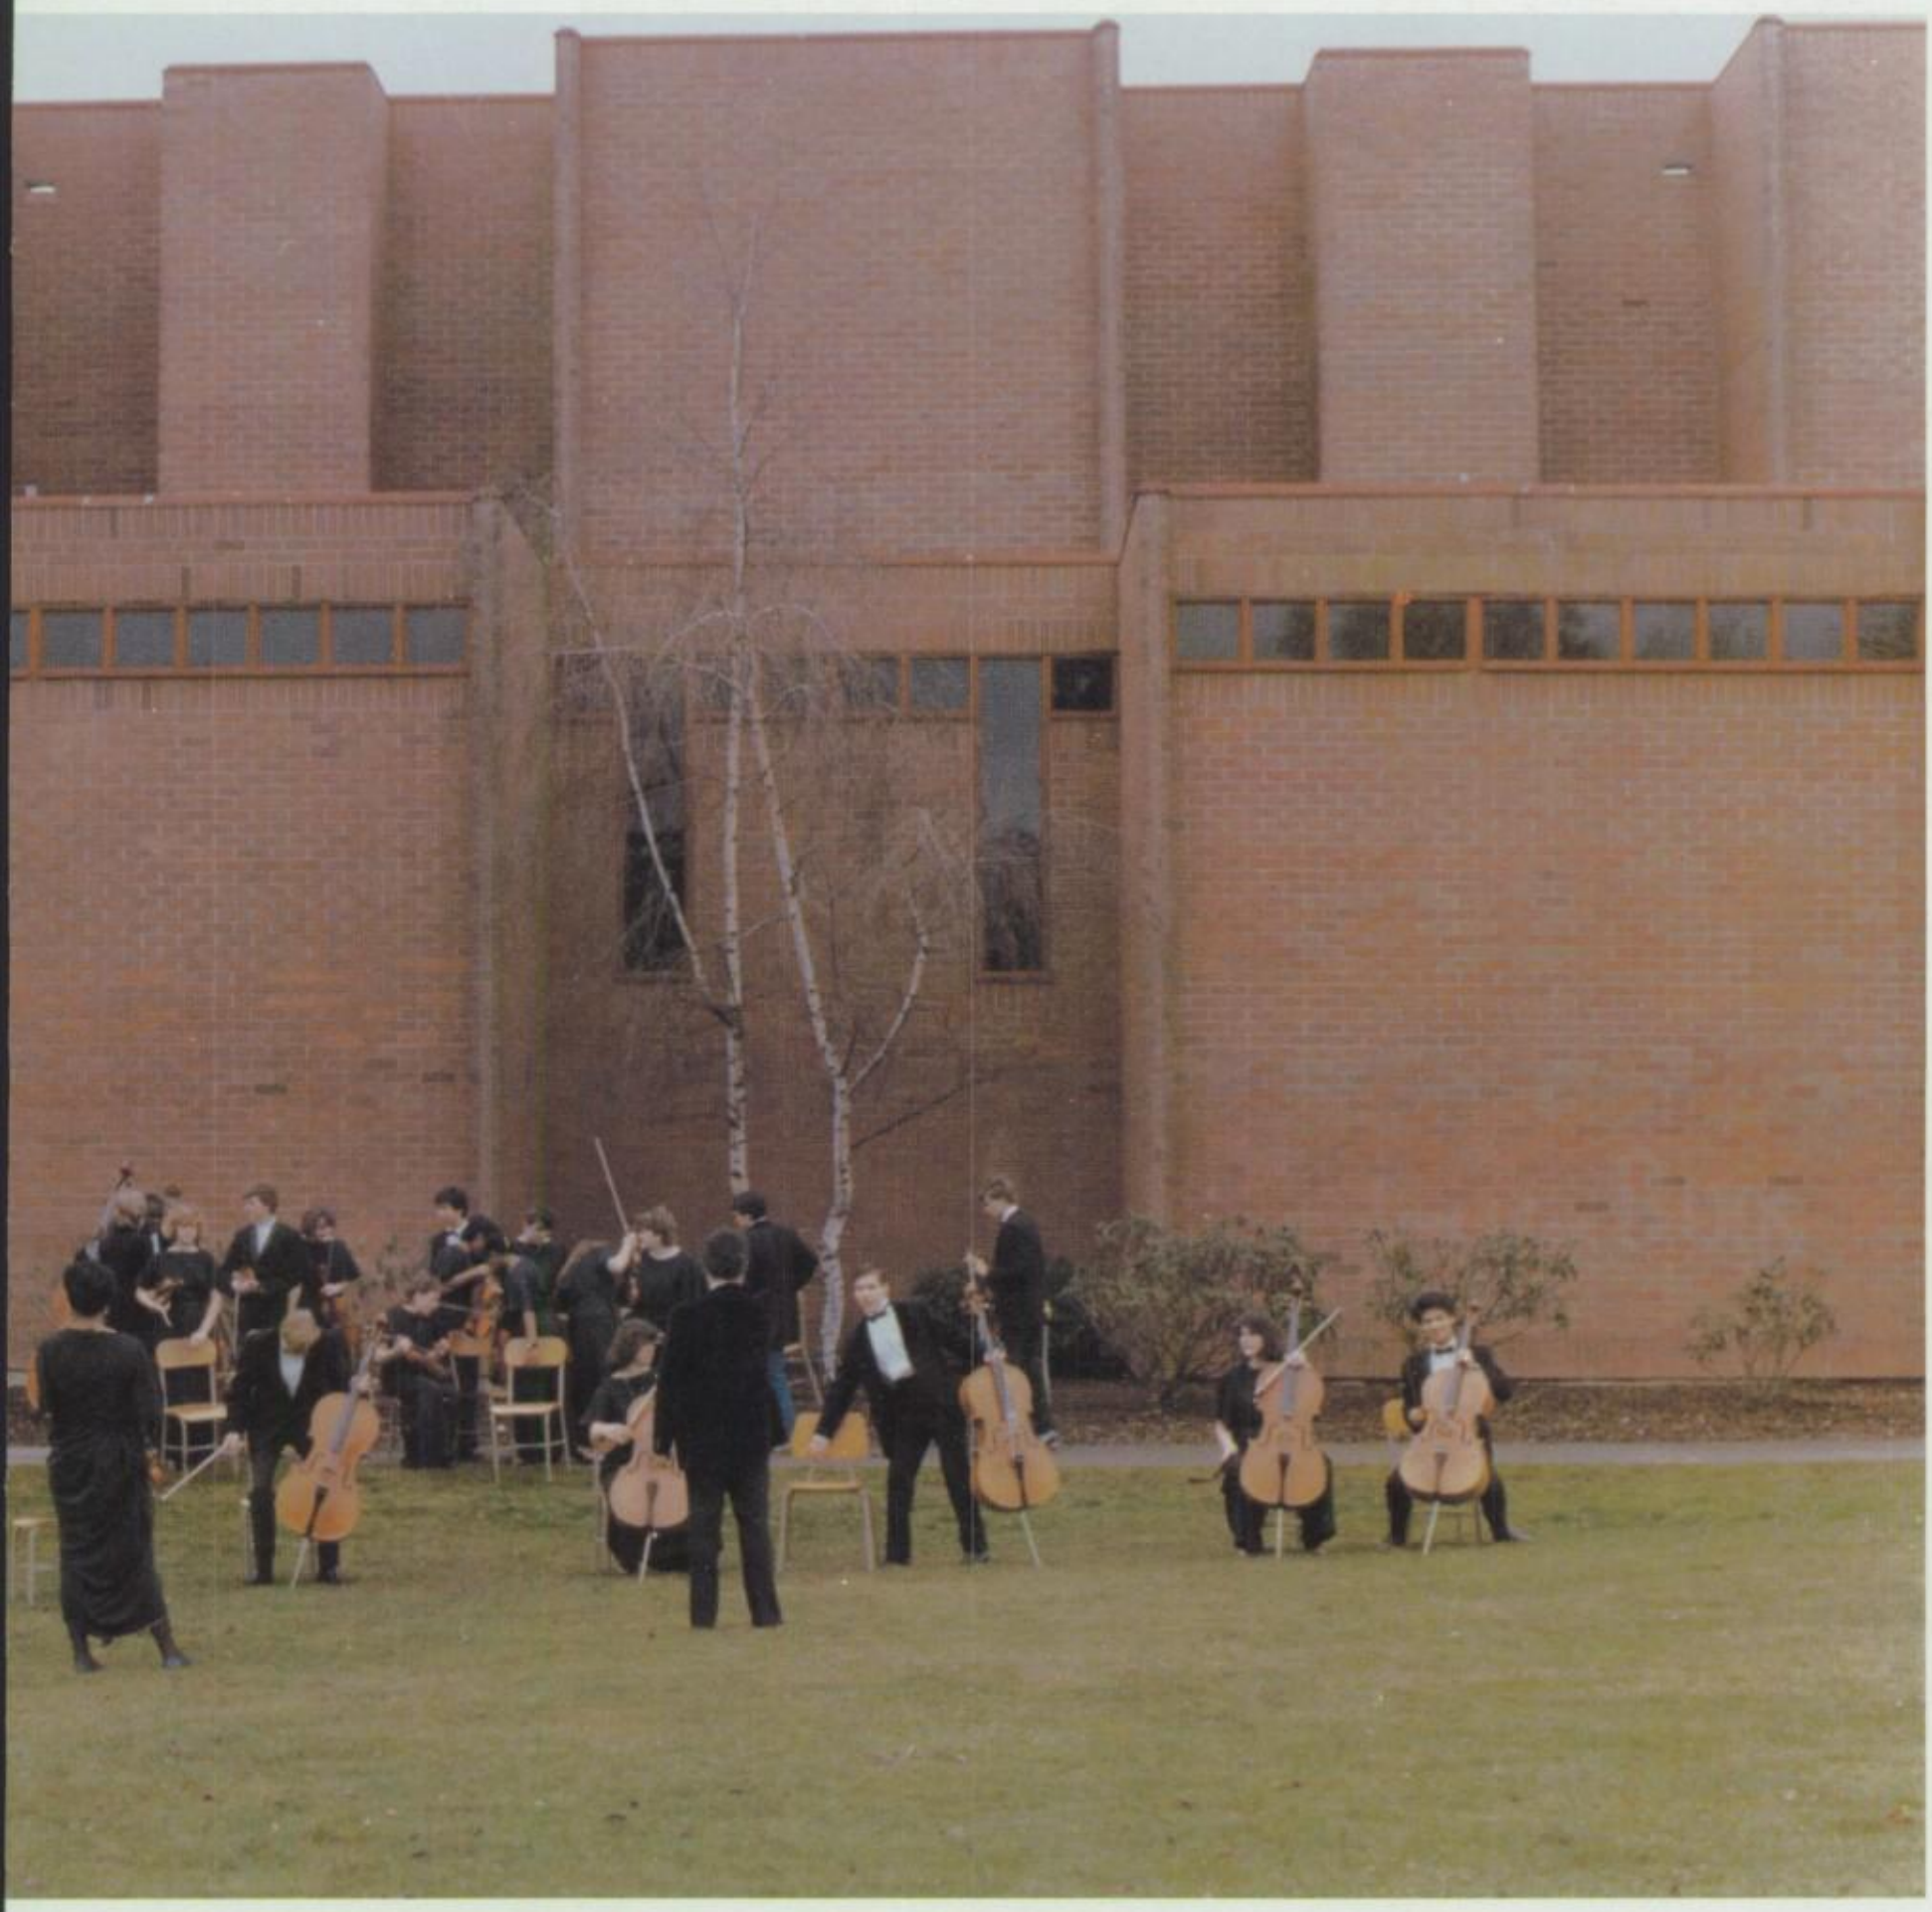
PERFORMING ARTS





CONCERT BAND

Getting back into the swing of things, Wilson's Concert Band had to first reaccustom themselves to instructor, Dale Strickland who is back from a sabbatical. But after this slight readjustment, Concert Band rose to great heights and performed with energy, talent, and vitality. Of course, it wasn't all that simple. They endured long practices and demonstrated total dedication to their music.

Their dedication was evident in their performances, in which the audiences heard such songs as, "Galop", "Sleepers Wake", and a variety of Polkas. Besides school performances, they also performed for Truman and Mason Junior High Schools.

Doug Johnson plays the trombone to a victory song (top center).
Doug Basset and Eric Parker step in time for their fellow marchers.

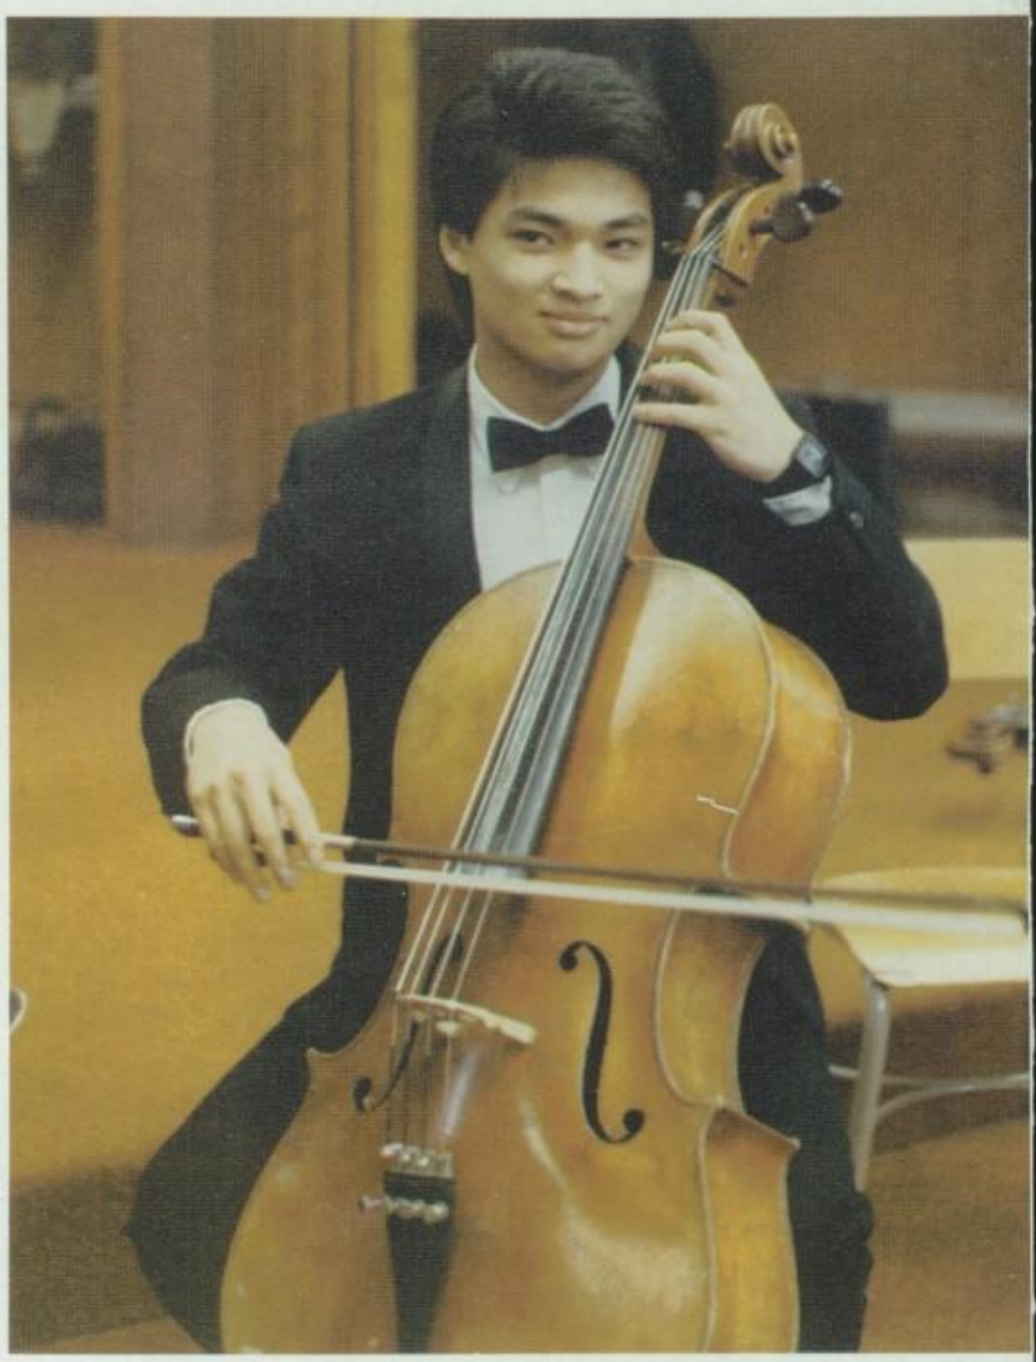
CADET BAND

Cadet Band is not just a second string band. This band is conducted by Mr. Dale Strickland and performs in all school activities such as the Daffodil Parade, and pep assemblies along with participating in concerts held during fall, winter, and spring.

"Cadet band is for those who have not had a lot of performing experience, or are late comers," said Mr. Strickland. "Students can improve their abilities and skills while participating, or they may learn to use a second instrument."

ORCHESTRA



Darkness prevails. The shuffling of feet can be heard. Then . . . suddenly . . . a light- and music. Sometimes soft, beautiful music- other times violent, stormy music. But always there is the long scratchy whisper of the violin and the sweet melody of the flute.

A lot of work has gone into the success of the orchestra performances. In order to have so many people play together in harmony, the students have to put forth extra effort. William Boyd, director and conductor, stated at the beginning of the year, "this year's orchestra promises to be better than last year's."

The standards set by Mr. Boyd were definitely high, but Wilson's orchestra was able to meet these standards, by performing in the Central Washington University's Invitational String Festival in Ellensburg and other such festivals.

Like the end of a performance, the end of the year came to a close, closing the curtain on the orchestra until next year when a new orchestra comes to "fret upon the stage."

Sharon Smitherman concentrates on a difficult piece of music (bottom right).

SWING CHOIR

Talent is in the hands, feet, and vocal chords of Wilson's Swing Choir. Being one of the few swing choirs in the state of Washington to use choreography in their performances, puts them on many peoples' wanted lists. Starting the week after Thanksgiving, they performed every day. In addition to their daily performances they gave a tiring 31 performances in the last two weeks of December.

Of course, their talent and coordination is not just spontaneous. They have dedicated their time and efforts to make Wilson's Swing Choir the best it can possibly be. Swing Choir members started their practices last summer and dedicate at least one hour each day. "It's a lot of hard work, but it's fun," exclaimed Elisa Falise.

One honor that Swing Choir earned this year was the chance to go to Hollywood for a national performance choir competition. Needless to say, they accepted the honor and did a great job representing Wilson and Washington.

CHOIR

Bell choir and choir participant's are extremely dedicated to their singing and bell ringing. They practice at least one hour a day, and even more when a performance is drawing near. These performances included playing at the Tacoma Dome, the Sheraton Hotel, the Tacoma Tree Lighting ceremony, and commencement at the end of the year.

The bell's are rung by 11 students, and 44 voices compose the choir. Wilson Bell Choir, the only such group of it's kind in Tacoma Schools, is one of the best in Washington State. Wilsonites are proud of these groups, and for the pride and recognition they have brought to Wilson.

DAFFODIL PRINCESS

Kelli Cummings was our 86-87 Daffodil Princess. She was judged on posture, appearance, attitude, and the ability to speak in public. "I was really surprised that I won," said Kelli.

Her responsibilities include participating in the Daffodil, Junior Daffodil, and Yacht Parades. Other appearances she must make are at the Magnificent Mutt Show and a performance especially for all the daffodil princesses.

The top finalists were: Christine Chauffuer, Diane Ungurs, Tanya Zeemin, and Kim Johnston.

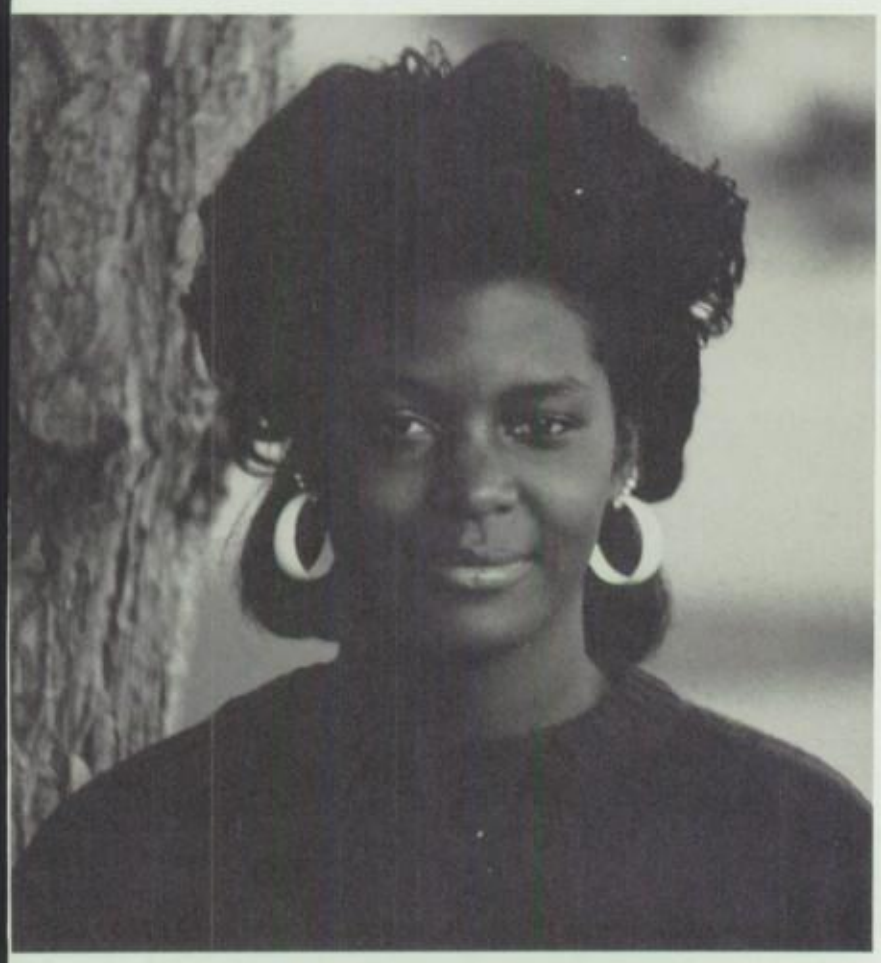
AFRO PAGEANT: THE DREAM COME TRUE



Ladies and gentlemen, introducing Wilson High School's 1986-1987 Afro Princess- Ms. Annette Spenser. Ms. Spenser says that being Afro Princess has matured her and helped her overcome her shyness. One of the highlights of being Afro Princess, according to Annette, is meeting each Saturday for breakfast or lunch with some of the other Afro Princessess in the district. Annette has also participated in talk shows, on television, and in a fashion show. We are proud to have Annette Spenser represent Wilson.

There were two other contestants in the Afro Pageant: Shari Parham and Tawa Krigsman. All three were selected on community involvement, an oral essay, and academic ability.

CLUBS &

ASW: STUDENT GOVERNMENT AT WORK

Associate Students of Wilson. This group has most members of any organization on campus because it includes all Wilson students. This years A.S.W. officers are: Brenda Paul, President; Kim Vest, Vice-President; Stephanie Smith, Secretary; and Wendy Wertman, Treasurer. This group of capable leaders led the way to the return of RAM spirit at Wilson. From running the student store to making spirit posters these four RAMs put in many long hours after school to encourage the spirit revival.

Brenda and Kim don't actually read USA Today, they just look at the pretty pictures. (top right)

SENIOR COUNCIL

The class of '87's Senior Council was comprised of knowledgeable previous leaders and new officers with different perspectives. The council consists of: Brian Curran, President; Cheryl Delorme, Krissy Bye, Kim Bennett, and Craig Chung. Each of these students proved to be very capable leaders. Senior Class activities included the Senior Breakfast in February, the Senior Ball at the Bicentennial Pavilion, the Senior Trip and, of course, the candy sale.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

The class of '88's Junior officers were: Chad Smith, Stephanie Crawford, Steve Jarrett, and Kwanf Bui, Cindy Bolton, and Melinda Hankinson. The Junior Senate spent most of this year organizing fund raisers to defray the costs of their Senior Ball et al next year. However, the infamous M&M sale was not the only activity pursued by these leaders. Working in the student store, creating spirit posters and establishing RAM spirit in the junior class are examples of the many things done by Wilson's Junior Class Officers.

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

Data Match. The Class of '89, the babies of Wilson, baffled the school with this interesting new fundraiser. Students talked about Data Match for months! Besides Data Match, the council sold Reese's Peanut Butter Cups and Kit Kats. Needless to say, they also spent their share of lunch shifts working in the Student Store. All of these activities were done to help the sophomore class get a head start on raising money for their Senior activities. Good Luck Kids!

MR. JANES LIBRARY

It's a wonderful day in the library, a wonderful day in the library. Won't you read my, won't you read my, won't you read my books? That is what Mr. Janes sings as he shuffles into the library and changes into his cardigan sweater and Converse sneakers. Next, he takes students on a tour of the library. Can you say "autobiography"? Very good! After the tour, he takes the trolley through the neighborhood to meet his good friends, the librarians - Mrs. Rehling, Mrs. Benson, and Mr. Goff. They all work here in the magical land of literature. Can you say "literature"? Very good boys and girls.

NURSE

What is your favorite excuse to go home? "My little pinky hurts;" "I swallowed some rubber cement;" or "I ate what I thought was a brownie, but it turned out to be Ex-Lax." If you have thought of it, the nurse has heard it. Generally, though, a sincere "I don't feel well." is sufficient. However, Mrs. Allphin's responsibilities do not only include tending to the various illnesses at WILSON; she also deals with drug problems, child abuse, and family problems. Although a nurse's profession is not always glamorous, Nurse Allphin always shows her warm and caring personality.

OVER 1 MILLION SERVED

The "chunk, chunk, chunk," of the printing press reverberates throughout the 200 hall at Wilson. Thousands of copies of tests and other vital material are produced in this busy corner of the campus. The Copy Center's director, Shannon Sandvig, keeps things rolling through press breakdowns and mini-catastrophes. By year's end, Mr. Sandvig expects to have used over 250 boxes of paper-over a million and a quarter copies!

THE A.P. BUNCH

Advanced Placement, what does that really mean? Wilson defines it as a college-level course taught to capable high school students looking for a challenge and extra homework. Whether it's A.P. biology, English, history, foreign language, or calculus, Wilson students are ready to meet that challenge. The fact that a student may take one or all of these courses adds to the programs versatility and adaptability. You don't have to be great in Everything to take an A.P. class in fact most A.P.ers only take one or two A.P. courses. The A.P. year ends with the A.P. exam in May which, depending on the student's score, may grant college credit $$$. Good Luck to Wilson A.P.ers!

The Wilson BANNER

—SPOTLIGHT—

For over twenty years the Wilson Banner has been reporting the news. This year was more of the same. The Banner publishes interesting articles on many present and up-coming events and issues at Wilson. The paper is judged by Wilson's 1500 member student population. A large and diverse audience is difficult to please; so, the Banner staff decided to try to please most, not all of Wilson's students. Miss Shirley Schreiweis is the Banner advisor. The Banner Staff labored long to produce the best Banner ever.

BOWLING CLUB

Wilson's 1986-87 Bowling Team had a successful season. Wilson does not own a bowling alley, nevertheless, Wilson practiced at Frontier and Narrows Lanes. Wilson had a very powerful and skillful team, dominating the Narrows League. Key players who showed special skill were: Jason Thompson and Hal Tiffany. Describing this team is difficult. It is filled with skill, determination, and pride. With some Unbalanced skill and muscle the Bowling Team ended up with a winning season.

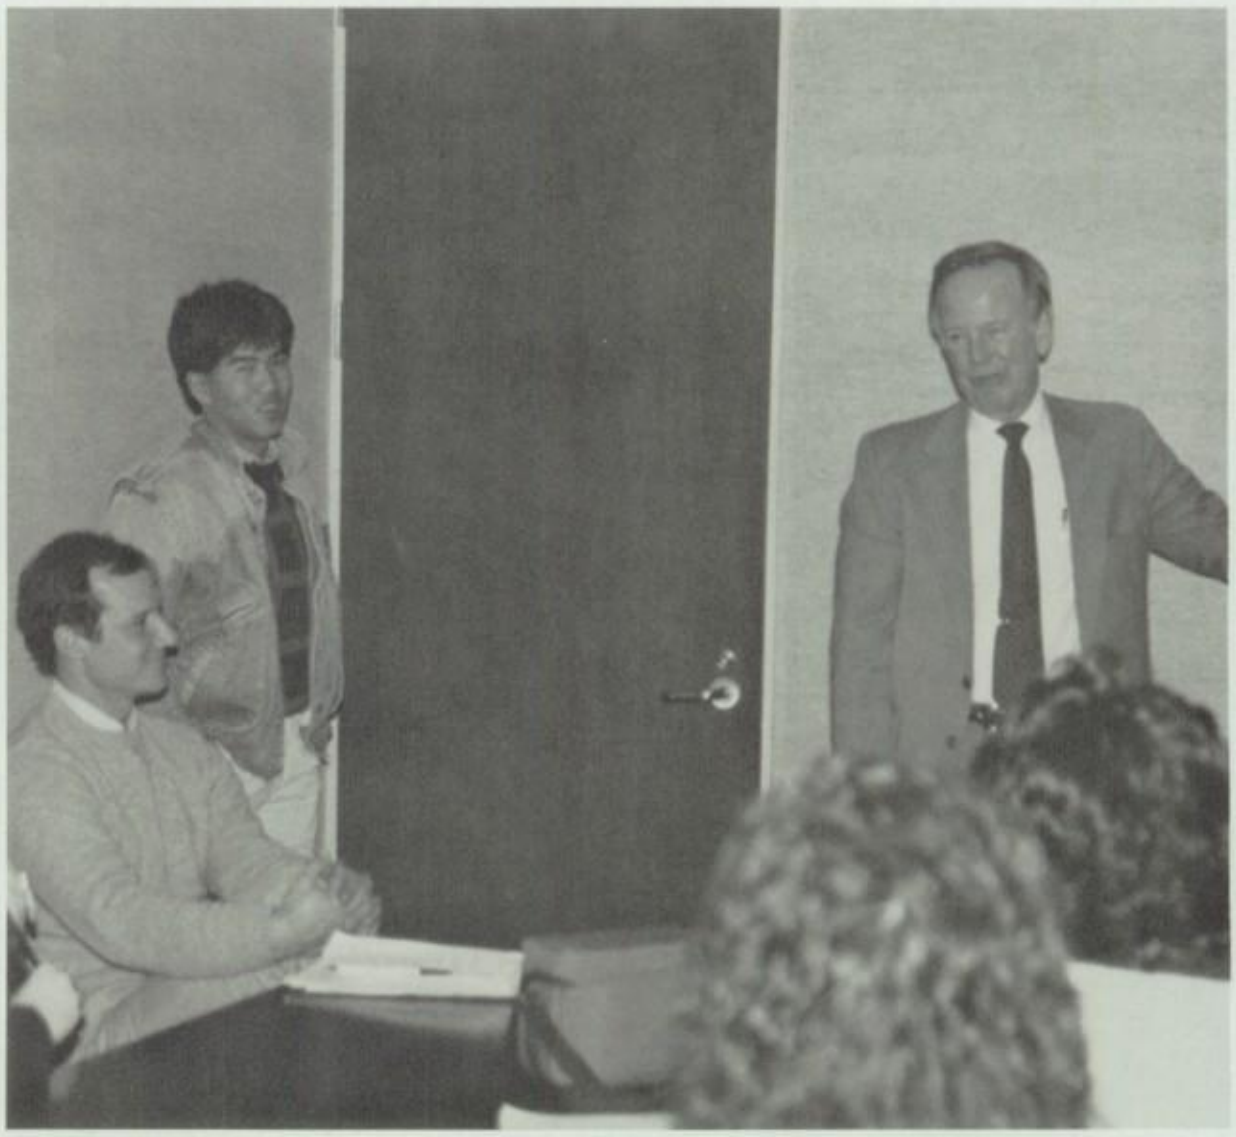
CHECKMATE

-Checkmate! This phrase carried Wilson's Chess team to a first place finish in regionals and a fourth place finish in state. The team, led by team Captain, Phat Ngueyen, won a total of 15 points in the state tournament and picked up the regional trophy for the fourth consecutive year. With two members returning from last year's "Asian-Connection", Wilson's Chess Team couldn't lose. They did a great job keeping Wilson's name in state and regional competition.



CLOSE-UP INVESTIGATES THE WORKINGS OF THE LAW

Three future leaders from WILSON took a "close-up" look at the U. S. government the week of February 15-22. Chris Morton, Karen Wheat, and Hung Cau financed their trip through public and private sponsors. Each of them knew the experience would be valuable and eye-opening. Mr. Thorpe, Close-Up advisor, accompanied the group to Washington, D. C. There, they met other high school students participating in the Close-Up program from all parts of the country. Five hectic days were spent observing our government at work. The most memorable experiences of the trip were meeting one of our state senators, Brock Adams, and witnessing two Senate roll call votes.

DECA

Distributive Education Classes of America is a rapidly growing business club known to the students as D.E.C.A. Taught by Mr. Rasmussen, the club is a class which takes up two hours a day, devoted to the art of business. D.E.C.A.'s goal is to teach Wilson's future executives the knowledge of creating, advertising, selling a product and of course, making a profit.

This year D.E.C.A. students were involved in putting together and distributing a new 1987 Wilson Livewire. The profits went toward club functions.

DRAMA: AN ACTED SERIES OF EVENTS

Drama consists of a diverse and somewhat complex group of students at Wilson. Coached on by Mrs. Kyle, both beginning and advanced drama classes worked to bring two plays to Wilson this year. The fall saw "God's Favorite" and "Out of Sight, Out of Murder" was performed in the spring. Many long, tedious hours of practice go into each performance, and Wilson certainly appreciates this effort and fine display of RAM spirit.

FRENCH CLUB

Wilson's French Club participated in a wide variety of activities. With the help of student teacher, Mademoiselle Vogel, the club ate dinner at a French restaurant in Seattle, went to French movies at the Bijou Film Festival and had many French food tasting parties. President Andrew Gilmour led this club to new degrees of RAM spirit.

GERMAN CLUB

German Club, led by advisor-Mrs. Schreiweis, kept that old RAM spirit alive. Selling Ice Cubes, Gummy Bears and Toblerone candy bars were just a few of the many activities this group participated in. Candy sales went on all year as German Club members showed that RAM spirit can break language barriers. President Linda Wimberely led this club in all its activities and contributed to the RAM spirit revival.

GIRLS CLUB

Have you ever dreamed of spending a romantic evening in which everyone was wearing tuxedos and gorgeous dresses? This year, the opportunity was once again provided by Girls' Club. After months of hard work through selling candy-canes and Halloween-o-grams, and through much planning, the FORMAL TOLO was held at PIERCE COLLEGE. This year's theme, "MOONLIGHT AND ROSES," provided the perfect setting for the dance.

Other activities were also held including the New Members' Breakfast, a Christmas party, and an Installation Banquet for the new officers. The popular MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET was once again a success. "It was a great chance for the girls to spend time with their mothers," said MRS. JAMISON, the club adviser.

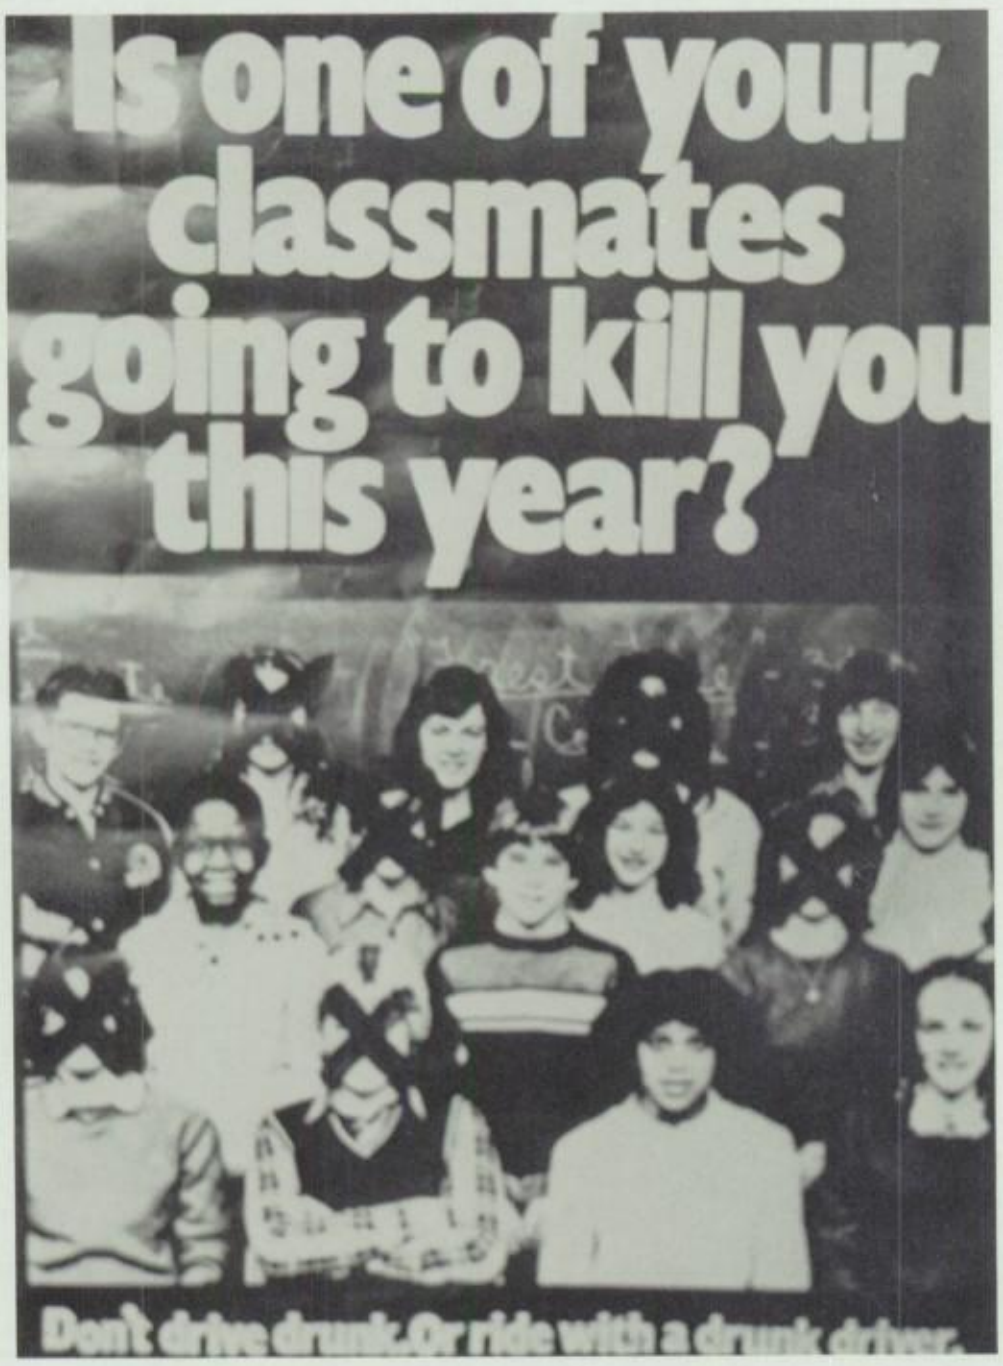
GOSPEL CHOIR SINGS OUT

1987 saw the introduction of a new choir at Wilson. Singing not rap, progressive, or any other type of popular music but -gospel music. Although this group was not a class, met, practiced and performed regularly. Singing the Lord's praise may not interest all Wilsonites, but many enjoy singing gospel music and decided to start their own choir. Another display of RAM spirit.



STUDENTS AGAINST DRUNK DRIVING

Students Against Drunk Driving. This Club was founded this year at Wilson by student Stephanie Smith. This club's focus is on the real problem of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol. This group distributes notes on students' cars at dances "If you drink, don't drive." and put up posters, like the one to the left, in an effort to decrease this problem. The increase in the number of drug related accidents both locally and nationally and the urging of administration led to the founding od SADD. Hopefully, groups such as SADD will lead to more thinking before drinking.

KEY CLUB

Another great day at the inevitable carwash. Yes, Wilson's Key Club participated in many donation-based fund raisers of this type. At least four weekends were spent by Key Clubbers washing cars behind gas stations. However, car washing was not the only skill learned by club members. For instance, clubbers visited elderly people at various rest homes and helped out at Kiwanis dinners and other events.

KNOWLEDGE BOWL

Question number 4: "What organ of the inner ear is sometimes known as 'The lute of 3000 strings?.'"
"Team B, Wilson?"
The members look around, "Does anyone know?"
"Ten Seconds!"
"Answer! Someone! Please!"
"The Organ of Corti!" cries ANDREW GILMOUR.
"Right!"
Question number 5.

Knowledge Bowl may seem boring and uninteresting to some, but it is not. This year, there were three teams which represented WILSON in practice meets, invitationals, and districts. The questions are randomly picked by a computer which chooses from several subjects including math, science, English, history, and foreign affairs.

NHS: SERVICE TEAS TO SHAKESPEARE

National Honor Society. This club, whose members must have at least a 3.5 GPA, is one of the largest organizations on the Wilson campus. Clubbers diplayed their RAM spirit this year at all of their many activities, including: a pizza party, a cookie sale, a bout-a-thon, a tea for the teachers, a trip to the Ashland Shakespearean Festival to see RichardII and the Senior Awards assembly. This year's officers were: Cheryl Delorme, President; Denise Ungurs, Vice-President; Michelle Reese, Secretary; Michelle Knowle, Treasurer; and Krissy Bye, Historian.

MATH TEAM ADDS UP TO FUN

Our future geniuses compete and challenge their minds in many fields of mathematics. Leading the group is Miss Fabish, who organizes and trains our team. A number of students have driven themselves to excellence, with numerous hours of intense concentration and dedication. This kind of determination makes the math team one of the best. Just making this team is a feat. The tryouts are rigorous and only three students are allowed to represent each class. This year, representing the sophomore class are Mike Hilton, Elwood Davidson, and John Forslin. Representing the junior class are Pat Murphy, Chuck Knauf, Mo Nguyen and the alternate is Lim Phariny. Representing the senior class are Phat Nguyen, Cheryl DeLorme, Ahn Tran, and the alternate is Natalie Reese. "This year seems to be promising," said Miss Fabish.

BABY 'STEINS

Albert Einstein that is. The 86-87 school year saw the recognition of WILSON's first Physics Club. Advised by Mr. Zittel, the club got off to a great start. The club activites included building lasers for class demonstrations, flying gliders, infrared sensors, and computer programs. Juniors in the club look forward to next year's A.P. Physics class taught by Mr. Zittel.

VARJA

Varja, the girls' Honorary Club, began the year with several enthusiastic plans. They sold Gobble-gRAMS, Santa-gRAMS, and Senior Shirts. In addition, they sold balloons, carnations, and Val-a-gRAMS for Valentine's Day which provided a perfect way for the students to tell that "special someone" that they care. "MRS. HINES, the club adviser, was a great help in "filling in the holes," and lending a hand where needed," said CHRISTY MAIURA, the club president.

ZURI WAKIMA

Zuri Wakima was established at Wilson many years ago in order to better racial relations among students. The club has continued through theyears trying to educate people of the ethnic and cultural backgrounds of other people. However, this year there was a lack of member participation in the club and the president, Adrianne Baseden, wrote a letter to the student body requesting that people attend the meetings. The group struggled through most of they year with the few members it had and tried to improve the atmosphere at Wilson and encourgage ethnic pride.

SPANISH CLUB

This year's Spanish club began the year on a helpful note by holding a car wash in which all donations went to the Salvadoran earthquake victims. Other charitable functions which they held include the making of a pinata which was donated to Mary Bridge Children's Hospital. Besides their service projects, Spanish Club sold sombrero-shaped suckers in order to raise money for the club's expenses. Some of the ways the club found to spend this money included a trip to Casa Garcia where club members were able to order in Spanish and a farewell party for the wayward students going to Mexico. This year's Spanish Club has done a lot more than previous Spanish clubs proving that action does speak louder than words.

NOVA

Producing a book of this scope is a difficult project. The deadlines and the other conditions under which the staff labors are demanding and often impossible. Our aplogies to participants of spring sports in paticular. Because of an early spring break, many teams were just beginning to organize as the final deadline approached and stats were unavailable. We wish to thank those whose patience were tried by our misadventures, tragedies, and our over sights for their forbearance. Special thanks to photographers Kannha Bounchanh for the Ram photo that opens the book, Dave Lepore for the Narrows Bridge photo, and to Tin Quoc Vo and Thanh Nguyen for the football team photo at the Tacoma Dome. Special thanks go to Russ Blank of Perler Photography, and Ken Werner of Josten's American Book Company. This issues editor, Michael Friesen has been tireless in his efforts as have the majority of the Nova staff. Special gratitude is due to Natalie Reese, Michelle Reese, Dave Lepore, Kim Gorsuch, Kris Swanson, Brian Clements, Debbie Everett, and Ixicha Kendrick.

IN MEMORY OF

Born: William A. Chapman at Tinker Airforce Base in Oklahoma, on December 31, 1970, Bill died at Madigan Army Medical Center on February 23, 1987. Bill was a Junior at Wilson, and a proud member of the Cadet Band, in which he played the clarinet. He spent most of his time helping others or just staying at home, lifting weights and watching T.V. All of the students attending Wilson who knew Bill, knew him as a friend who would help them through rough times if they needed it. His friends are too numerous to mention, except to say that he had many of them. Often he cared more for others than he cared for himself. We seemed to remember him for what he was, and all the good times that were spent with him. In time the hurt will fade and be replaced by memories that will keep him in our hearts for all times. There are no answers to why Bill had to die, except maybe that God only takes the best.
